Housing Bill Gets Quick House Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, without debate or a record vote, passed and sent to President Eisenhower today a $1,850,000,000 emergency housing bill.

The bill whipped through the House in one minute flat.

Opposition Expected

There had been some advance indications that opposition might be raised to a provision of the bill allowing the President to raise interest rates on GI home loans from 4½ to 4% per cent.

In addition to that provision, the bill continues GI home loan purchases for two years for World War II veterans until July 25, 1960.

It also authorizes lower minimum down payments for homes purchased on government insured FHA mortgages, and authorizes new federal outlays for various housing programs.

200,000 Homes May Result

Sponsors estimate it may mean the construction this year of at least 200,000 homes which might otherwise not be built.

The House then turned to two Democratic-sponsored pump-priming resolutions.

House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass.), declared it to be "the sense of Congress" that the administration accelerate federal military and civil works spending of funds already appropriated by Congress.

No Legal Force

The Senate has passed similar resolutions by almost unanimous vote. They have no legal force.

In advance of House action, the big housing bill appeared certain to stir up a fuss over provisions to increase the interest rate on GI home loans from 4½ to 4% per cent.

But by suspending the usual rules (Continued on Page 8, Col. 8)

Two Probes Going

Both Reuter and the grand jury are investigating kickbacks on official purchases in eastern counties. Reuter objects to the subpoena.

In Albany today, Mark Walsh, assistant attorney general, said a representative of the office would appear for Reuter Tuesday. The attorney general's papers in the case are returnable Monday.

Meanwhile aides are studying applicable laws. The attorney general's office acts for most state agencies.

Expresses Regret

Reuter has suggested that he and the Delaware County district attorney, Richard H. Farley, and the grand jury cooperate in their kickback investigations.

In a letter to Farley and jury foreman William G. Miller, Reuter wrote:

"I regret that your office as well as the grand jury of Delaware County, which should be allied with me in an effort to uncover and punish venality, should be at loggerheads over methods, means and timing.

Aim Is to Head

"I want to help and not block the grand jury. I am sure the grand jurors do not want to impede my work. I should be glad to meet informally with you and members of the grand jury at a mutually convenient time next week."

Farley said last night that he had not received Reuter's letter (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Snyder Will Return to Police Job

Action toward reinstatement of William A. Snyder, of 71 South Manor Avenue, to his duties as a local policeman after suspension in conjunction with a probe of the police department, was noted at a special police board meeting yesterday.

A statement released after the meeting said:

"A unanimous decision was reached to recommend that Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly contact Officer Snyder's attorney, and inform him that the board had agreed upon reinstating the officer to duty."

Finally Testified

Officer Snyder, during the police probe, resulting of the arrest of patrolmen on burglary charges last summer, had first refrained and finally agreed to testify under a waiver of immunity.

The statement from the office of Mayor Edwin F. Radel noted that Snyder, "in a sworn petition, dated March 12, 1958, has requested the State Supreme Court to order his restoration to duty in the City of Kingston Police Department from which (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

To Clarify 2-Way Fire Radio Bids Tonight, 8

Two-way radio for the volunteer fire companies of Ulster County can be in use 120 days after a contract is let, the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association was told at its monthly meeting in Saugerties Tuesday evening.

Walter Harvey, representative of the Motorola Company, and Robert Logan, General Electric representative, were present at the meeting to discuss two-way radio and to answer questions from the firemen.

The two companies have submitted bids which are under consideration by the committee from the board of supervisors.

Will Meet Tonight

There will be a meeting tonight at the court house at 8 o'clock of the board of supervisors' two-way radio committee, of which W. Morton Bertrand of Shandaken is chairman, and the representatives of the two companies. The meeting was called to discuss the bids and clarify them.

Supervisor George Majestic of Gardiner, a member of the board of supervisors' committee on radio, made the report to the firemen. He said any interested person from the county would be welcome to attend the meeting tonight. The final date under which a contract for two-way radio may be let under the existing bids is April 10.

President Joseph L. Murphy presided at the business session, the Association being guests of the Saugerties Fire Department.

There were 41 companies represented with an attendance of approximately 150.

A report from the board of directors indicated the county companies were responding very well to an appeal for an assessment toward the expenses of the annual convention to be held in July. Thus far 36 companies have made their contribution.

Arthur Rice, heading a special committee to investigate "blanket insurance" coverage for fire companies in the county, gave a report. It has been suggested (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Officials Elected in 5 Places Republicans Win Ellenville Poll

Bingo won a resounding victory Tuesday in 66 small New York state communities, including Ellenville, New Paltz and Rosendale, with the following trustee election results reported in Ulster County villages:

2. A solid Republican victory in Ellenville, marked by the reelection of one Republican incumbent, Jerome Z. Elkin, and two other Republican candidates. The Republicans now hold a 3-2 majority on the village board for the first time in a number of years.

2. A landslide in the village of Saugerties for the Independent Party slate of Mayor George P. Holmes. Three trustees and a police justice were swept into office by clear majorities, as much as double in one instance.

3. Re-election in Rosendale of Harold Schoonmaker (Ind.) who was opposed by John H. Boyle (D), endorsed by Democratic Mayor Catherine O'Leary.

4. Unopposed election of candidates in New Paltz (Henry W. DuBois and Harold M. Elsbree) and in Pine Hill (Frank San-

Bingo Results

The village of Ellenville voted 702 to 202 in favor of bingo, Rosendale 271 to 63 and New Paltz 157 to 73—margins ranging from 2 to 1 in New Paltz to 4 to 1 in Rosendale.

Bingo was voted in 66 communities in the state, the loser in one. Only Brownville in Jefferson County rejected the game of chance in local referendums.

The vigorous campaign of Protestant ministers apparently accounted for the 80 to 70 vote against bingo in Brownville—a village of approximately 1,000 population.

Fear Vice Ahead

Protestant groups throughout the state have opposed legalization of the game because it is a form of gambling and, they say, opens the door to vice.

Margins of more than 10 to 1 were reported in some places with pluralities of 4 or 5 to 1 common in light to moderate towns.

The Ellenville election was a personal victory for Elkin, who is completing a one-year term as trustee, the first Republican to serve on the board in several years, it is reported. Elkin was elected for a two-year term, defeating incumbent Harry Thayer, Ellenville publisher, by a vote of 923 to 677.

DeWitt E. Clinton (R) won over Clarence A. Kuhlman (D) by a vote of 877 to 657 and Frank E. Greco (R) beat Sol Sashin (D) by 871 to 681.

Second Arrest Is Made in Fire Case

NEWBURGH (AP)—State police today reported the arrest of a second person, a student, in connection with a series of fires at a boys' school near here. A teacher was arrested earlier.

Police said Thomas Roberts, 16-year-old student from Scarsdale, was charged with first-degree arson late yesterday as the result of a minor fire in a cottage Jan. 28. He was held for grand jury action.

Arrested Monday on a first-degree arson count was Ronald Russell, 28, a teacher at the Storm King School at Cornwall on the Hudson. He was held in connection with a small fire in the school library March 8.

State police alleged that both the instructor and the student were involved in the Jan. 28 cottage blaze, but no charge has been brought against the teacher concerning it.

Police continued their probe of two other fires, one a minor blaze and another which caused $25,000 damage to a dormitory on Jan. 23.

Time Adjustment Needed for Full Coverage on Chief

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren through a recent letter from Mayor Edwin F. Radel was informed that a time adjustment will be necessary to provide full social security coverage for the chief, who is due to retire May 31.

The mayor recalled a discussion with the chief, himself and George Johnson of the local social security office on March 13 in which they went over "the problem of obtaining social security coverage as it applies to your specific case and to members of the police and fire departments."

Radel's Letter

The mayor wrote: "Considering that you have resigned and you will be over age 65 at that date, there is one method available to have immediate coverage at date of retirement."

The chief, he said, would have what is known as "special insured status." To acquire this, he said, "it is necessary to have nine quarters of retroactivity dating back to March 16, 1956. However, this would have to be done, not as an individual, but on a total departmental basis.

As you know, the present request by the police and fire departments is for six quarters retroactive to June 16, 1956."

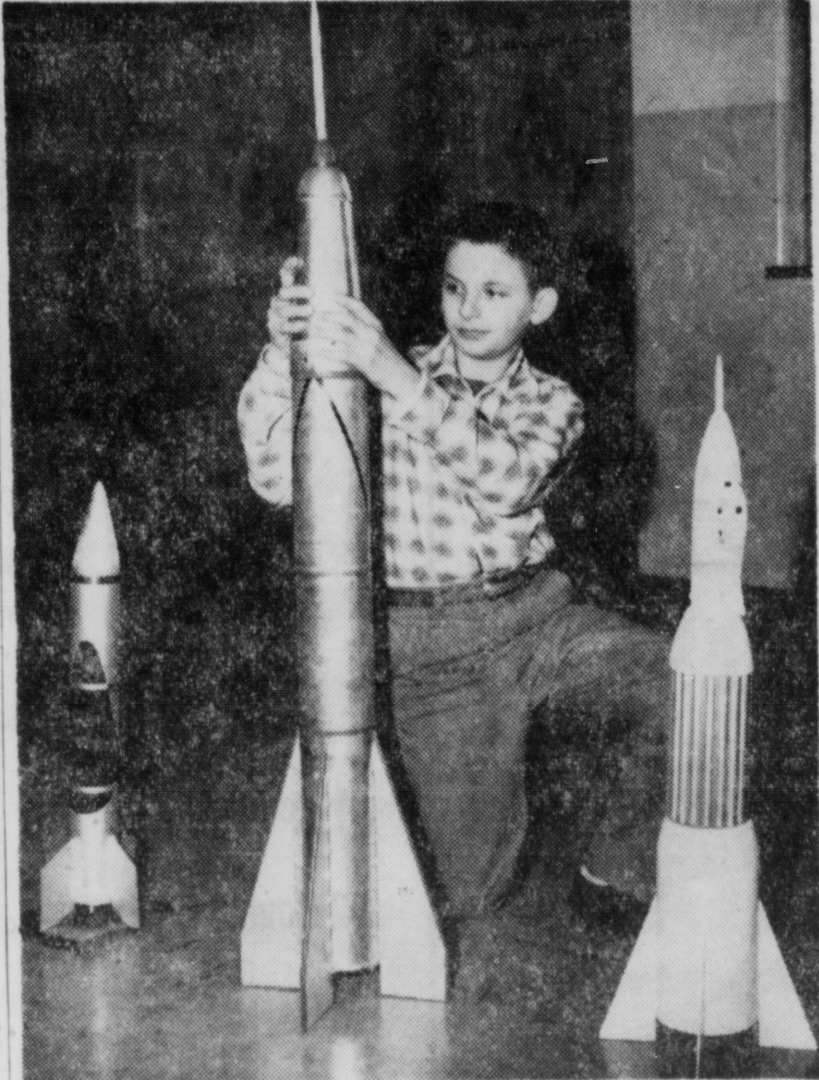

Date May Be Changed

If either department so desires, he said, "this date may be changed to conform with the March 16th date, and at that time, all men in that department, who are 65, will be immediately eligible. All others are eligible at the time they reach 65 years of age."

"You will recall during the conversation on Thursday the mayor wrote, 'It was pointed out that even though you pay for retroactive time to June 16, 1956, and you are not immediately eligible for full benefits upon retirement, you have only to earn $50 in each of the succeeding four quarters or $50 every three months until April, 1959, and you will be eligible for full benefits. The amount of the investment incurred in your retroactive payments, will probably (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Bareika Asks Copy, Charges Politics

Charges of "lack of good faith and political motivation" in the Reuter probe of Hudson valley counties was made yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein in Albany.

The charges were made by Harry Bareika, Kingston representative of the Walter Truck Company, and John E. Egan, his counsel, during arguments for an order requiring Investigations Commissioner Arthur L. Reuter to provide Bareika with a copy of testimony which he gave before Reuter in New York on March 6 and 11.

Gets Show Cause Order

Last Thursday an order to show cause was obtained by Bareika requires Reuter and his chief counsel, Benjamin F. Nolan, to show cause before Justice Bookstein yesterday why Bareika should not be provided with a copy of the proceedings held in New York on March 6 and 11.

Following argument yesterday Justice Bookstein gave counsel a week to submit memorandum in support of their arguments and also gave the attorney general's office three days thereafter to submit briefs if desired.

At the hearing before Justice Bookstein in Albany Tuesday the attorney general's office was represented by Raymond Madden, an assistant attorney general, but maintained a neutral position during the argument.

All Matters Stayed

Pending determination of the motion of Bareika for copies of the proceedings in New York, all matters pertaining to Bareika are stayed by the court.

There has been some intimidation by the Reuter forces that Bareika may be cited for contempt for his refusal to answer questions. Any such matter is now stayed under the show cause proceeding pending decision of Bareika's motion for a copy of the testimony.

A cross motion was made yesterday by Benjamin F. Nolan, (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Catskill Site Is Sought for New State Ski Center

ALBANY (AP)—A legislative committee is hunting for a Catskill Mountain site for a big ski center, now that one in the Adirondacks is in operation.

The Joint Committee on Winter Tourists reported today, however, that it had not found a Catskill site for a ski center to serve the New York metropolitan area.

Wary of Same Area

The chairman, Republican Assemblyman Robert G. Main of Franklin County, said the group was wary of developing any new Adirondack site that might compete with the 2½-million-dollar facilities on Whiteface Mountain.

Main, in his annual report to the Legislature, said Whiteface, in its first season of operation, "gives every indication of being (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Includes Building, Rural Jobs $300 Million For College Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called for an anti-recession speed-up in the spending of 2½ billion dollars in federal, state and local funds for construction and rural electrification projects.

The President set forth the program in letters to Albert M. Cole, chief of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

U.S., State, Local Funds

The plan calls for faster spending of $1,248,000,000 in federal funds, and $1,007,000,000 in state, local and private money.

The money would be used in this way:

For public facility loans for such things as sewers and municipal water projects, 75 million dollars.

For college housing loans, 300 million.

For slum clearance projects and other aspects of urban renewal, one billion.

For public housing, 140 million.

For rural electrification loans, 740 million.

Byrd Cautions Moves

In advance of the White House announcement, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) joined Republicans in stiffened opposition to immediate tax cuts or "make work" spending.

In his letters to Cole and Benson, Eisenhower "directed" both officials to carry out the programs he set forth.

In reply to questions, however, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that in effect Eisenhower was "authorizing" a speed-up in spending of money already authorized and appropriated.

Up to Agencies

Responding to further questions, Hagerty said actual decisions under the program would in many cases be up to agencies other than the federal government. But he added the administration had no doubt a speed-up will be achieved.

In writing to Cole and Benson, Eisenhower noted that on March 8 he announced an anti-recession policy "of accelerating where feasible construction programs are under existing appropriations and authorizations."

In the case of the 75-million-dollar public facility loan program the money will come from federal funds.

The 300 million dollars in college housing loans is advanced by the federal government, and later paid back.

In the case of one billion dollars for slum projects and other urban renewal, 800 million comes from private funds, about 133 million dollars from the federal government, with the balance paid by municipalities.

The 140 million dollars for public housing is intended to speed up construction of 10,000 housing units with private money. Initiation of such projects rests mainly with the federal government, the White House said.

Meanwhile, some GOP Congress members were saying the recession already is leveling off.

Sees $15 Billion Deficit

Byrd, who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said in a prepared Senate speech the government is headed toward a 15 billion dollar deficit if Congress cuts taxes. He said any large scale red ink spending for pump priming will "add fuel to the inflation fire" and further cut the value of the dollar.

Even in February, he said, inflation cut the buying power of a dollar by one-third of a cent—an annual rate of four cents.

Sen. Dirksen of Illinois, the assistant Senate Republican leader, said in an interview it is exactly that threat of inflation which is delaying a decision by President Eisenhower and his advisers on possible tax cuts.

Against Cutting Value

"The President and his advisers want to be sure that if a tax cut becomes necessary and is made, the benefits won't be washed out by inflation," Dirksen said. "It would do the average family little good to get a tax cut and then find the price of everything had advanced."

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he is certain Congress is not going in for what he called frantic spending or tax cutting of the kind that would pile up any 15 billion dollar deficit.

Waiting for Trend

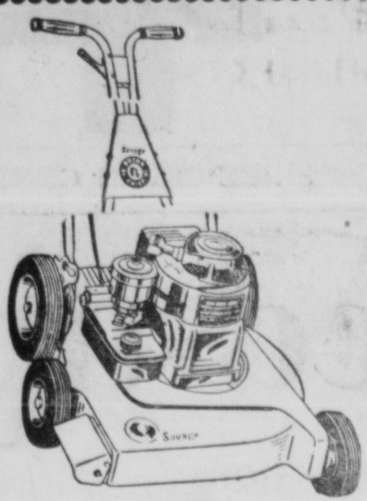

He said the administration will wait 30 to 60 days for signs of (Continued on Page 8, Col. 5)

Question-Answer On Consolidation

Is there extra aid granted by New York State for Consolidation?

Yes, it should be remembered that additional state aid granted to Consolidated districts is computed at $200 per pupil living in the rural area up to 400 students in any one district. The State Education Department estimated this to total some $435,000.00.

That's a lot of money! What would it buy?

The annual payment of $435,000.00 in additional state aid would permit the annual payment of $300,000 a year for new school buildings as proposed in the study on consolidation and pay the transportation bill estimated at $125,000 annually. Of course, the money is available for any educational use as determined by the Consolidated Board of Education.

Are there other advantages in Consolidation?

Advantages in education are at times debatable and in reality reflect the individual's "Sense of Values." Some of the advantages listed by districts which have consolidated are:

A uniform tax rate for all. Every taxpayer will pay the same tax on true value regardless of where he lives.

One system of administration by one Board of Education with rules that apply fairly to each and every child.

A single system of supervision with a planned program of textbooks, report cards, courses of study, salaries for employees and a planned program of purchasing.

Kingston—A community center?

There are those who also feel that there is a great advantage in having Kingston as the center of the school district. The reason they give is that the people tend to shop at the center where their children attend school. Many of these same people look upon that center as the social-religious center of their community as well as the economic center.

It is obvious that, if these rural children were to be accommodated in the rural central school, the business life, the social affairs and the religious interests would tend to center around that school rather than in the city of Kingston.

Saugerties P-TA Offers Discussion And Films Tonight

Two films, "Answering the Child's Why" and "You and Your Parents" will be presented at Saugerties Parent-Teachers Association meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in Main Street School Auditorium, Saugerties.

Following the showing of the movies, parents and teachers of young children will discuss the film "Answering the Child's Why." Mrs. Albert Perks will be the leader for this discussion.

Mrs. William Jacobs will lead the discussion among parents and teachers of teenagers.

The program is under the supervision of Mrs. Ella Swart, school nurse.

Consolidation Is Topic for School 6 P-TA Thursday

A meeting on consolidation will be held at School 6, O'Neil Street, Thursday at 7:45 p. m. and will be sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of the school.

Robert Macdonald, administrative assistant of Kingston city schools, will be the guest speaker.

Special Series on Consolidation

Kingston's Role Under Enlarged School Plan

(Editor's Note: Today's article on the Greater Kingston School District deals with equalization rates and school taxes. This series of articles discusses the important consolidation question which will come before the voters at a referendum vote Wednesday, April 2.)

One of the more painful days of the year, to most of us, is the day our school tax bills come out. We all understand that we must pay for the education our children receive, but it is sometimes hard to understand why we must pay so much. Another thing which is hard to understand is the method used to determine the amounts of our individual taxes.

Assessed by Town
All property in each town is evaluated, or assessed, by the town assessor. Various rules are used by these men to determine assessed values, but the biggest factor is their own personal judgment. It is the duty of the assessor to assess each piece of property with relation to all other pieces of property in the town.

Because each town is assessed by a different board of assessors and because there are several theories regarding the proper relation of assessed value to actual value, it usually results that the assessed value of a given piece of property would be different in different towns.

For those school districts which lie completely within one town, the method of assessment has had little significance until now. The total amount of the school budget is divided by the assessed value of all property in the district, expressed in thousands of dollars, and the result is the school tax rate per thousand.

Those school districts which encompass parts of two or more towns have always needed to equalize in some way the differences in the assessed values of the towns involved so that each taxpayer would pay his fair share of the educational cost regardless of the method of assessment used in his town. The equalization method is used in such cases to compute the taxes. The adjustment factor used here is the "equalization rate" usually expressed in per cent.

Hinges on State Rate

In order to establish the equalization rate of each town, the state estimates the total value of the property within each town. Since each town or city has many pieces of property within it, individual estimates of property are not made, but with the help of the law of averages the total figure arrived at will be quite accurate. This total value is not necessarily the selling price of the town or city, nor is it the buying price. It is a figure which represents the true proportion of the value of property in New York State which lies within each town or city. The assessed value of all property within the town or city, as shown from the tax records, is divided by the "true value," as determined by the state, and the result is the "equalization rate." It is often expressed as a percentage. If the equalization rate in a town is 20 per cent, this means that the assessed value of any piece of property is approximately 20 per cent of its true value.

A short time ago the equalization rate of Kingston was 36 per cent, which means the assessed value of your property was 36 per cent of the true value as determined by New York State Board of Equalization and Assessment. The formula actually used by this board is uniform throughout New York State.

When Kingston's property was reassessed recently, the equalization rate was increased to 42 per cent. This means the increases in assessment brought the assessment figure nearer to the true value figure determined by the state.

School Tax Same

Now, does that mean a taxpayer in Kingston pays more school tax than one in a rural town, if they each own a building the market value of which is $10,000?

No, please note this example. Cost of Building—Town $10,000; City of Kingston $10,000.

Equalization Ratio or Percentage—Town, 21 per cent; City of Kingston 42 per cent.

Assessed Value—Town, $2,100; City of Kingston, $4,200.

True Value—Town, $10,000; City of Kingston, $10,000.

Assessed Tax Rate under Consolidation, 6 Year Average Estimate—Town, 12.965; City of Kingston, 12.965.

True Tax Rate under Consolidation, 6 Year Average Estimate—Town, 12.965; City of Kingston, 12.965.

Town Tax: Assessed $61.74 x 2.100—$129.65

True 12.965x10,000—129.65

City Tax: Assessed 30.87 x 4.200—129.65

True 12.965x10,000—129.65

What do you mean,
"armamentarium?"

Sometimes physicians forget and talk their own language. Greek to most people. Now, about the mouthful above, ever hear something like this from your doctor? "... drawing on our present armamentarium to treat you..." Actually, "armamentarium" is just a doctor's word for the array of treatments and medications at his disposal. When it comes to drugs, this armamentarium is something. Thousands and thousands, literally. All are readily available in this pharmacy to help preserve your health when needed—a public service which we are pleased to render.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 19, 1958

A CASE FOR ISOLATION

In New York City, juvenile delinquency was allowed to become a national scandal before much was done in the schools. Action to isolate the destructive, sick 1 per cent of the children from the other 99 per cent was slow in coming. Teachers, parents and the overwhelming majority of the boys and girls suffered.

Even after the dangerous children were isolated and taken out of schools which they threatened to destroy, some people who should have known better yelled bloody indignation. The fact is that plans for isolation of the disturbed Little Johnnies should have been made long before. Isolation, removal from the major body of non-destructive children, is fundamental.

It is to be hoped that other cities will learn from the New York experience and plan to meet emergencies if Little Johnnies decide that a dog chain used as a weapon is a more effective instrument of the good life than a textbook. And when plans are made it should be remembered that, without a judicious use of authority, the notion of shedding warmth and understanding is self-defeating.

In a special school or institution, different methods can be used than are feasible in a normal school. It is as unjust as it is idiotic to make the majority of children suffer because a few are not understood and loved. We favor giving everything possible to Little Johnny, including love and understanding. We also favor giving the vast majority of America's children a chance for an education without being endangered by a disturbed and brutal minority.

To see one of the most abject expressions of boredom, have a look at a dog receiving treatment at one of those canine beauty parlors.

THE MILL IS GRINDING

Hundreds of bills that might be construed as anti-recession measures have been dumped into the hoppers in both the Senate and the House of Representatives. One reason for this is the rapidly growing conviction that the U. S. economic pump needs priming in a hurry. Another reason is that practically everyone in Congress is maneuvering to get some share of whatever credit there will be for having taken action to end the slump.

The need for action is clear. The situation is probably not as bad as some Democrats are saying; it is probably not as good as some Republicans insist. But unemployment of substantially more than five million, coupled with reduction in working time for many others and a sharp decline in industry spending on plant and equipment, says plainly Do something.

Some sort of pump-priming is virtually assured now. The period for receiving unemployment benefits probably will be extended. An increase in military spending is in prospect. Some public works programs are going to be speeded up, in all probability, and new projects may be undertaken. Tax reduction of one sort or another also seems likely.

The legislative mills are grinding. Just what will emerge, and whether it will be mainly administration measures or those advocated by the Democrats, cannot yet be told. The public can only hope that, in their eagerness to claim credit for their part in fighting the dragon of recession, congressmen will not forget that the dragon is the main target.

Two classes of experts have been somewhat de-experted by recent developments. There were the economists who asserted there couldn't be another recession. And there were the meteorologists who said basic changes in climate had put an end to severe winter weather.

With air travel booming and satellites aloft, the old admonition to keep one's feet on the ground seems to have lost a bit of its point.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

OVERDOING IT

The Russian propaganda machine manages by constant repetition to force upon our minds certain symbols and concepts which we repeat and which after prolonged repetition come to be accepted as our own. One of these concepts is as old as the "Hands Across the Seas" symbol.

I was sitting next to a wise man recently and we were listening to a speaker say that we should all know each other better and that he is happy that the United States is extending its cultural inter-relations. The man next to me said that the only people he ever quarrelled with were those whom he knew, like his wife, for instance. He said that the people in all this world whom we know best are the British. To a lesser degree, the same is true about the Germans. The two largest components of the American population are the British and the Germans; yet they are the only nations against whom we have fought two wars.

The people we hardly know at all are Indians, Indonesians, Ceylonese, and other Asiatics but we spatter all over ourselves when we think of them. Somehow the less we know them, the more wonderful they seem to us. So, for instance, we got all excited over an Indonesian socialist, by name Sukarno, who was given a red-carpet reception when he came to the United States, but who now goes in for a doctrine called "guided democracy."

According to the anti-Communist Sumatrans, this "guided democracy" is a cover for letting the Communists join the government. Precisely what the difference is between Sukarno's "guided democracy," and Nasser's "presidential democracy," and Tito's benevolent paternalism, I cannot tell you.

Suffice it, that nobody can be too angry about something he knows nothing about, although he may have prejudices on the subject based on general principles. Let us say that I listen to David Oistrakh play the Beethoven Violin Concerto. Also Isaac Stern play it. Also Francescatti play it. Also Elman and everybody else. The most I can say is that Oistrakh is a first-class violinist who can play the Beethoven Violin Concerto with ability, understanding and sympathy. But does that make me like Khushchev? Does it cause me to prefer the Russian system of government or the Russian way of life?

Or look at the other side of the coin. A Negro trumpet player wants to go to Russia to play the trumpet there in jazz style. His name is "Satchmo" Armstrong. I do not know what Satchmo means, although someone told me, maybe to fool me, that it is a nickname for a big mouth. I heard him once and marvelled at his enormous chest expansion. What he played bored me but my son says it is good, which explains the difference in generations.

Now after the Russians have listened to the aforesaid Satchmo, will they have a better understanding of the American Constitution, the capitalist system, the revolt against Puritanism, and other manifestations of American life?

When we speak about cultural exchanges, and we decide not to leave such exchanges to the accidents of life and the free will of individuals, but force them by government propaganda and recruitment, what do we actually accomplish?

Recently, a bright young man and his wife upbraided me for not getting hot and bothered about the failure of our government to spend more money to advertise our civilization at the world's fair to be held in Belgium. To tell the truth, I had barely paid any attention to this subject, but while I was being upbraided, it occurred to me to wonder who will be convinced by what at this world's fair?

If we are to resolve our Cold War with Soviet Russia, we have to convince only one man, namely, Khushchev. All right, for individuals' sake, let us agree that we have to convince also Mikoyan, Bulganin and three or four others of their colleagues. What will convince these hard-boiled second generation Communists? It is not likely to be the Rockettes or the Philadelphia Symphony.

Well, what would convince them that they ought to cut down the cost of the Cold War? Probably nothing but evidence that even if they get in the first smack, we have enough to destroy quickly and with perfection the material gains of their revolution.

Barium Enema Aids Physician In Spotting Trouble in the Colon

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Apparently there are many medical procedures which doctors now use but which puzzle their patients.

Q—Please tell me the purpose of a barium enema.—Mrs. N.S.

A—The use of a barium enema is a diagnostic measure. A solution containing barium is passed into the lower bowel or colon and when an X-ray film is taken, the colon will be shown in a kind of silhouette. Thus it is a device for finding out whether there is an obstruction or irregularity in the colon. It is therefore extremely useful in diagnosing such things as cancer, diverticulitis and other abnormalities.

Q—Is there any relation between hardening of the arteries and a lifelong bad temper? Can a violent temper rage do damage to the brain?—Reader.

A—The answer to the first question is, almost certainly not. The second question is more difficult. It is doubted that a temper tantrum can directly damage the brain, but it might produce a temporary change in blood flow which might cause a "stroke." In other words, it is possible that a violent emotion could precipitate or hasten the effects of damage already underway.

Q—Please discuss the operation for the correction of bowlegs. Why is it necessary to break the legs?—E. D.

A—The deforming curvature of the legs called bowlegs is most commonly the result of a vitamin deficiency disease known as rickets. The treatment depends a great deal on how early this is found, since sometimes operation is not necessary. It is my understanding that the breaking of the legs to correct bowlegs is done less frequently now than in the past and probably is never done with older children or grownups. More often, if operation is necessary, a procedure involving cutting of the bone, followed by the application of a plaster of Paris cast is employed. The older a person, the more debatable is the treatment.

Q—Is it true that clogged nostrils can be caused by nervous tension?—R. R.

A—Emotional causes for physical symptoms undoubtedly do exist and consequently this would seem to be a possibility. But a possible physical cause such as a deflected nasal septum, polyps, an allergy or something else should also be investigated.

Q—I am 52 and suffer from sinking spells. I have been in the hospital and all of the tests have been all right. I am 30 pounds overweight and do not have any pep. What do you think is wrong?—F. J.

A—It is impossible to even guess what "sinking spells" might mean. If all of the tests have turned out normal one must suspect that this symptom is not of serious significance. However anything wrong, such as overweight, should certainly be attended to.

"That'll Be Exactly---the Shirt Off Your Back"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Walter

Reuther's United Auto Workers open Ford Motor Co. contract negotiations March 31 with far less indication of outcome than there has been in similar situations in the past. The Ford-UAW contract expires June 1. This allows two months for reaching an uncertain agreement.

During most of last year, Reuther laid down a barrage for his four-day-week plan, with increased pay.

At the turn of the year when recession and layoffs brought shorter work weeks with reduced pay, Reuther shifted.

He put forth his profit-sharing plan. It calls for splitting "profits" in excess of figures used for executive bonus plans—one-half to stockholders, one-fourth to employees and one-fourth to car buyers, as price rebates.

INDICATIONS are now that the union negotiators may give these demands second emphasis. Priority will be given to demands for elimination of wage inequities and for increasing supplemental unemployment benefits to 80 per cent of take-home pay for 52 weeks. Protection of seniority rights and other "non-economic" contract changes will also be asked.

This new emphasis is considered a reflection of rank-and-file union members' demands. It reveals what laid-off workers with reduced income and exhausted unemployment insurance rights consider most important in today's recession.

Cash in hand for groceries and rent is more necessary than fringe benefits in today's economy. This makes Reuther's bargaining position for the big social reforms like the shorter work week or profit-sharing more difficult.

It also raises a challenge to management to show how smart it is by solving some of these human engineering problems before unions demand solutions in tough negotiations.

REUTHER's ten-year record in winning contract terms dealing with some of these problems is formidable, whether you believe in his philosophy and methods or not. This is why he is not to be underrated in coming negotiations.

In January, 1948, UAW demanded 25 cents an hour wage increase, five cents more for medical benefits, a guaranteed weekly wage, three weeks paid vacations and a retirement plan.

In June General Motors granted the first cost-of-living escalator clause and the first automatic improvement factor, a three-cent-an-hour annual productivity increase.

The following September Ford signed UAW's first company-financed pension plan. It paid retired workers the difference between government social security insurance benefits and $100 a month.

In March, 1950, UAW asked General Motors for a $125 pension plan, comprehensive medical care, severance pay and a wage increase. Total demands were priced at 31 cents an hour.

With only slight modifications GM signed for the entire package in a record-breaking five-year contract.

A few months later Ford signed a parallel contract. The pension maximum was raised to $125. An eight-cent general wage increase was granted with another five cents for skilled workers. Annual improvement factor was raised to four cents. Hospitalization benefits were increased. Value of the whole package was put at the equivalent of 19 cents an hour.

WHEN THESE CONTRACTS were reopened in 1955 negotiations, Reuther presented his controversial guaranteed annual wage demand. He didn't get it all. But he got a good start toward it in SUB—supplementary unemployment benefits.

Ford signed the first contract for a completely company-financed plan. Supplementing state unemployment insurance benefits, it provided for payments of from 60 to 65 per cent of take-home pay for 26 weeks.

In addition there was an eight-cent wage increase for skilled workers. The improvement factor was raised to six cents or 2.5 per cent of wages, whichever was higher. Health benefits were increased. Paid vacations were extended. Holidays and holiday pay were increased. Value of this package was put at 20 cents an hour by UAW.

It is on this foundation that Reuther's organization seeks to build in the new negotiations. It is doubtful if any labor group has won greater gains in any decade.

NEW YORK, March 18 — Vague rumors of something called a recession are heard, but a galaxy or diadem of new luxurious restaurants in New York provides elegant ease, remoteness and unreality to a limited minority of initiates. Food and drink are provided, too.

There are the Cafe Chauveron, The Pavillon, The Colony, Voinis, Quo Vadis, Passy, The Brussels and, for ancients of the old regime of prohibition, "21".

The Cafe Chauveron was opened recently by Roger Chauveron, who was a cook in the French army from 1914 to 1918. He rose to the grade of sergeant, with extraordinary commendation in the captain's address, and the morning after he had administered a birthday dinner adorned by all the battalion officers who could make it from their positions along the line in the summer of 1918.

The dinner was not a surprise party. The captain's dog-robber had delivered intimations all week that the captain would be 28 years old on August 27th.

Also that he liked whole lamb basted in garlic, tumeric, sassafras and catnip. There had been plans to hire 100 men for the dismantling of five ships.

A new, 11-ton, 120 foot steel smoke stack was being erected on the Forst Packing Co. plant on Abell Street.

Today in National Affairs

Recession Is Called Local, Both by Area and Industry

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Latest figures from the United States Department of Labor show that this isn't a national recession but that it is a local recession. For the vast majority of the labor areas of the country are operating under normal conditions and reveal relatively little unemployment.

Thus, for example, 149 major areas are surveyed every second month by the Department of Labor, and of these forty-five now are listed as having unemployment of 6 per cent or more. A year ago there were nineteen areas in that category.

In addition, there are eighty-nine smaller areas at present with 6 per cent or more unemployed, as contrasted with fifty-seven of the same type a year ago.

What this means is that substantial unemployment can be localized on the map. It is not nation-wide in the sense that it is affecting every city and town in the country. It is prevalent only in specific sections and particular industries.

A Spotty Condition

While there are one or more unemployment areas in twenty-seven different states, this is a normal situation in the sense that, with rare exceptions, since the close of World War 2 unemployment areas have dotted the nation every year, even when business and employment, in other parts of the country, have been described as booming and unemployment has been at a minimum.

It is this spotty condition which requires attention, and it will not be cured by remedies that propose to give extra money through tax reductions to persons who really don't need it. A case for comprehensive tax reduction—bringing down the rates for corporations as well as for individuals—can be made on the ground that receipts would be increased if tax rates become productive and stimulating. But the type of tax reduction which merely is temporary and, for example, forgives withholding taxes for a few weeks, isn't going to cure the recession. It might make matters worse.

Expansion Plans Slowed

It is significant that the Department of Labor surveys on unemployment reveal the heaviest layoffs to be in textiles, machinery and machine tools, metal-fabricating plants, automobile and parts manufacturing, aircraft, railroad equipment and many related industries.

Not enough attention has been focused on the fact that the heavy-goods industries have been slowed down because America's expansion programs have been halted. It is estimated that there may be $10 billion of private spending involved in the plans for heavy-goods expansion which were laid aside in the last two years due to credit restraints. The need for those projects still remains. Now, with money rates eased, the next several months should see a revival in the manufacturing of heavy goods.

It has been argued that the automobile industry is the key to the present recession and that, once automobile buying is stimulated, there will be a revival in steel, coal, railroad freight and a variety of industries now adversely affected. But it is interesting to note that preliminary surveys show that people plan to buy a record number of used cars in 1958. This might indicate that the prices of the new cars are just high enough to cause hesitation, but many would-be buyers who are content for the present with used cars.

Strike Threat a Factor

A reduction of the excise taxes on autos is being advocated as one way to bring auto prices down. This undoubtedly would stimulate some sales, but it would do little good if the Automobile Workers' Union were to threaten a strike this spring and force into effect a higher wage scale which would kill much of the advantage gained by the reduction of excise taxes. For it wouldn't help matters any if the auto manufacturers had to raise their prices to offset wage increases. The automobile companies have said that they would pass on to the consumer any drop in excise taxes, but they must include in their prices any substantial increase in wage costs. If ever there was a time for statesmanship in the labor unions, it is today when America has been struggling to absorb its highest price level in history.

The cure for the recession does not lie in a general increase in purchasing power, which is bound to be small so far as the individual is concerned, but in helping the particular industries which now are suffering severely from unemployment. Legislators on Capitol Hill are talking about anti-recession measures that could conceivably result in higher rather than lower prices of goods and actually diminish purchasing power. While temporarily improving matters, these measures might bring within a few months the worst smash the American economy has ever experienced.

Caution in applying remedies for unemployment is more important right now than succumbing to panicky demands for broad reductions in taxes to millions of individuals who really do not need them. Savings have risen to new highs. There is no dearth of total purchasing power. There is, of course, a noticeable fear and hesitation due to what is happening in a small number of labor areas. Once there are measures taken, however, to cure the illness of the heavy-goods industries, the national economy will again be on an even keel.

WASHINGTON'S SUPER GOVERNMENT

Plenty of beeping going about, but few know how it got started and keeps going. It's like the old gag about the camel that poked his head under the tent, and never stopped coming. The Income Tax Amendment to the Constitution was passed in 1913. Uncle Samuel first took a tiny bite out of big incomes. Nobody kicked much because incomes up to 4,000 $'s were exempt.

The camel's bite on 4,000 to 20,000 $'s was only 1%. That was just the camel's nose. Very few, even the big rich, hollered much, and the smaller guys laughed it off. They said, "It'll never catch up with me."

Oh yeah? Now in 1958 the poorest person kicks in 20% on a measly net of 600 bucks a year. The progressive income tax became of camel size when we swallowed the New Deal with its "tax, and spend and elect" racket. It was "progressive" all right! Since then the New Deal-Fair Deal and the Modern Republicans have been snatching billions away by withholding tax $'s which we never see—just like the labor union racketeers' snatching members' dues!

The only way to prevent our becoming a completely centralized government is to make the tax rate more reasonable. We can't repeal the 16th Amendment but we could make Uncle ease up on both the lower and higher brackets.

In God we can trust, but look out for the camel!

The suggested increase in minimum wage standards in the Amusement and Recreation Industry in New York State will have a public hearing in New York City on Friday, March 28, Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin announced today.

The hearing will begin at 2 p. m. in Room 659 at 80 Centre Street, New York City.

Previous Commissioner's hearings on recommended modifications in the existing wage order by the Minimum Wage Board were held on February 25 and 26 in Rochester and New York City, respectively.

The board held many hearings throughout the state prior to making its recommendations to Commissioner Lubin.

After a six month study, the board suggested industry-wide increases including basic hourly minimums and provisions for variation from this standard among several segments of the industry which function under special circumstances.

He will be prepared to discuss how the lay group can work with the official Mental Health Board and to report on the various programs already set up in many other countries—the theme of the speaker's discussion, "What Comes Next."

To Observe Anniversary

At the meeting on Saturday, the Mental Health Committee will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the organized effort by Ulster County TB and Health Association, resigned to bring better mental health to Ulster County residents.

In 1948 after several months of preliminary programs, the Mental Health Committee was added to the TB and Health Association. During these ten years, members have carried on an outstanding educational and promotional program, under the chairmanship of Doctor Edward F. Shea.

With the establishment of the Community Health Board, Doctor Shea was elected chairman of this official group. Because of this appointment, Dr. Shea asked to be relieved of the chairmanship of the volunteer group, and former Kingston City Judge, Raymond J. Mino, was appointed head of the Mental Health Committee by Doctor Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

He Will Assist

However, Dr. Shea will continue to serve as a member of the lay group, lending his assistance in interpreting the needs of the official and voluntary committees and how they can work together for the mental health program and services.

Because of the numbers of people interested and making meeting reservations, the committee asked those who wish places at the luncheon to call the office of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John Street.

Revenue Service Offers Careers In Accounting

The Internal Revenue Service is recruiting accountants for training as internal revenue agents. Trainees will conduct the less difficult audits of tax returns and perform other related duties while attending the prescribed six-months in service training course.

During the training period, they will be paid $3670 per annum and advance to $4525 per annum when they successfully complete this course. The positions are located in New York State in the Internal Revenue Service Districts of Albany, Buffalo and Syracuse.

To qualify, applicants must have completed a four year college course with a major in accounting or have had three years of experience requiring the knowledge of commercial accounting principles and practices. Applications will also be accepted from senior students who will complete all required courses within nine months of the date of application.

Application forms and Recruiting Circular No. 1 issued by the New York Region of the Internal Revenue Service may be obtained from any Post Office in New York State north of Rockland and Westchester Counties. Applications and Recruitment Circulars can also be obtained from the Second U. S. Civil Service Region, Federal Building, Christopher Street, New York 14, New York; from the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Internal Revenue Service, Room 1116, 90 Church Street, New York 7, New York and from the District Directors of Internal Revenue in Albany, Buffalo and Syracuse, New York.

Applications will be accepted until July 15, 1958 but applicants should file now to be considered for appointment on July 1, 1958.

Why We Say--

EVASION TAXES: As most people know, moonshine whiskey is that which is made illicitly to evade the payment of taxes. It got its name from the fact that most of it was made in the hills by the light of the moon when revenue agents were supposed to be asleep.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The drop in industrial output—greater percentage-wise than in either the 1953-54 or 1949 recessions—sharpens the debate today over what the federal government can or should do about it.

The President is conferring today with a group of governors to discuss the role of the states.

Pros and Cons

Without taking sides, let's look at the pros and cons of the various proposals: tax cutting or public works; easier and cheaper money or bolstering what remains of the purchasing power of the dollar; reliance on the pressure of cushions and stabilizers or increasing them greatly so that the public purse refills the emptying private purse.

And, finally, there are those who advocate as the safest a hands off policy to let business and consumers alike work out their inventory problems and rekindle a new and sounder boom.

But first it should be noted that while industrial output has fallen 12 per cent from its record point set in December 1956, it still is comfortably above the low point of 1954 and way above that of 1949. Also the drop is far from general or even—non-durables have fallen but 4 per cent, and some of them like food, beverages and tobacco almost not at all.

Money in Pockets

Advocates of individual, corporate and excise tax cuts say this would put money at once into the pockets of consumers for spending, business for expanding, and should lower prices on some goods subject to excise levies.

Opponents say there is no guarantee the tax savings would be spent. The resultant increase in the federal debt they fear would nourish inflation and resultant higher prices would offset any tax savings.

Sponsors of public works say it would make jobs and the benefits would spread.

Others say public works take too long getting started, that such made work often pays the men less than they got at their old trade and leaves them disinclined to become big spenders until the old jobs reopen.

Cheaper money advocates are counting heavily on bolstering home building and plant expansion that way. Credit already has been made easier and interest rates have slipped. But some hold this must be stepped up to be effective.

See Higher Prices

Those who fear going much further say it could easily spawn speculative construction and speculative business enterprises. Added to the inflationary pressure of the federal deficit already in sight, they see the threat of faster climbing prices which milk away the purchasing power of whatever size paycheck the worker commands.

Greasy Grace

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A minister asked guests at a dinner meeting to join hands around the table as he returned thanks before eating. Halfway through the prayer he had the uneasy feeling that the hand on his left—that of his 16-month-old son—was greasier than it should have been before the meal started. Out of the corner of his eye, the minister saw that what should have been his son's hand was a pork chop.

Gaillard Avoids Tunisia Showdown

PARIS (AP) — French Premier Felix Gaillard apparently avoided a showdown in his Cabinet on Tunisia today and then went into a meeting with U. S. and British good offices representatives.

Robert Murphy of the United States and Harold Bealey of Britain drove to Gaillard's official residence shortly after the Premier emerged from a five-hour Cabinet session. It had been feared that right-wing elements in the coalition Cabinet would threaten to resign should Gaillard show any weakness on France's current dispute with Tunisia.

The Cabinet spokesman told the newsmen most of the meeting had been devoted to a report on the international situation by Foreign Minister Christian Pineau who has just returned from a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in Manila.

Pineau met yesterday with Bealey and Murphy to get an initial idea of the reported conciliatory proposals the two men brought from President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia. These proposals were officially put to Gaillard at today's meeting.

Murphy and Bealey reportedly brought back a six-point plan that would set up a schedule for withdrawal of French troops from Tunisia with the exception of Bizerte naval base.

Says Name Used On License Owned By Miami Lawyer

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. Earl Barber, former top aide to FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack, testified today his name was used for a Florida liquor license actually owned by Thurman A. Whiteside.

Barber said he never got anything for the use of his name and that in his opinion there was nothing illegal or "underhanded" about the matter.

Barber testified at the House investigation of the Federal Communications Commission touched off by charges that Whiteside, a wealthy Miami lawyer, lined up Mack's vote to give the Miami TV Channel 10 to a subsidiary of National Airlines.

Both Mack and Whiteside have denied this, but told the investigators of a long, close friendship and of numerous financial favors from Whiteside to Mack.

Barber said he also had had financial help from Whiteside. He obtained a $600 loan from Whiteside for moving to Washington from Miami when he became an assistant to Mack, Barber related.

He said he hadn't paid it, but in April, 1956, wrote a letter to Whiteside acknowledging the indebtedness.

As to the liquor license, Barber said in 1953 Whiteside and a group of individuals had acquired the Dania Beach Hotel north of Miami and had acquired a liquor license and a cocktail lounge in the hotel. The title to the hotel was in the name of T. A. Whiteside, trustee, Barber said.

Florida law prohibits a trustee from having a liquor license, the witness went on, and Whiteside asked him if the license could be in Barber's name.

Bills Introduced To Aid Consumer

Three bills aimed at providing greater protection for consumers against "bait" advertising, misbranding of merchandise and other fraudulent selling practices were recommended to the Legislature today by Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz.

The bills were introduced in the Legislature by the Rules Committee of each house. In an effort to wipe out the evils of bait advertising, the bill recommended by Attorney General Lefkowitz provides that the Department of Law may make an application for an injunction to enjoin and restrain the continuance of unlawful selling practices.

The Bills
The bill provides that "no person, firm or corporation shall by any advertisement or other means of communication, offer for sale any merchandise or service as part of a plan or scheme to sell the merchandise or service at the price quoted or not to sell the merchandise so advertised."

Another bill will require merchants when offering used, rebuilt, rebranded or reconditioned automobiles, television and radio sets and household equipment and furniture to state in any advertisement that the merchandise is "used." Merchants who fail to designate the merchandise as "used" would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

The third bill would require disclosure by merchants in any advertisement of the "model year" of manufacture of automobiles, radio and television sets and household appliances.

"Evidence has been developed by the Division of Consumer Frauds and Protection of the Attorney General's office that in many cases articles of merchandise which are advertised for sale in such a way as to indicate they are the newest models available," Mr. Lefkowitz said.

Carle Appointed As City Fireman

Joseph M. Carle, of 48 Howland Avenue, was appointed to the fire department by the Board of Fire Commissioners last night.

A former employee of Needles Express, he was top man on an eligibility list containing three names. He has been a member of Carle's Hose Company for many years.

The appointment fills the only vacancy in the department at this time on the basis of present strength, but more appointments may be made before the end of the year to increase department personnel.

The appointment is effective April 1.

Pregnant Idea

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Gerald Thomason was worried when highway crews began tearing up the pavement and blocking off streets in front of her home. She consulted with highway engineer Ed Kidd and asked if he could leave passage for emergencies. It was arranged, and without any trouble getting to the hospital, Mrs. Thomason gave birth to a baby.

Assembly Favors Right of Bosses To Fire 'Silent'

By HARVEY TRAVIS

ALBANY (AP) — Should an employer be allowed to fire a worker who pleads the Fifth Amendment when questioned about subversion?

After sharp debate, the Assembly yesterday voted "yes" 106-34. Most of the opposition came from New York City Democrats. The fate of the bill in the Senate was considered uncertain.

The sponsor, Republican Assemblyman Edwin E. Mason of Delaware County, said the measure was aimed at subversives in industry.

"Thousands" are awaiting the outbreak of war to "come out in the open" and commit sabotage, he declared.

The bill was one of scores approved as the Senate and Assembly take adjournment in a week or so.

Other major bills dealt with phony divorces, unruly school pupils, and splinter political parties. Mason's measure would deal with workers who refuse, on the ground of possible self-incrimination, to answer questions at hearings concerning subversive, treasonable or Communist activities.

Mason said that unless the legal ground for dismissal were spelled out, it was necessary that an employer could be accused of unfair labor practices "under a broad interpretation of the labor law."

The Assembly crushed, by a 66-42 vote, a measure that would have made it a misdemeanor to deceive or to withhold material information in a divorce or annulment action. A bill needs 76 votes for passage.

A bill that would require school boards to let teachers use "reasonable force in moderate degree" on misbehaving pupils was sped through, 145-1, and sent to the Senate. The dissenter was GOP Assemblyman Daniel M. Kelly of Manhattan.

For the fourth year in a row, Democratic Gov. Harriman vetoed a GOP bill aimed at Democratic-Liberal party coalitions.

The bill would have required candidates designated by petition to file written acceptances. Then they would have been barred from withdrawing, unless chosen by their own party for another office.

Liberals have withdrawn from slates in the past, and their places have been taken by Democrats. Harriman announced his veto of a bill pending the outcome of his active investigation commission's probe of alleged "kickbacks" on highway items to Ulster County officials.

The bill would have authorized the Ulster County Town of Rochester to pay claims arising from purchases by its highway superintendent during 1956 and 1957 after the town had exhausted its highway funds.

It was sponsored by GOP Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County.

Harriman also rejected a bill that would have authorized the Town of Warwick, Orange County, to issue a $9,798 capital note to pay for road tar in 1956 after highway funds had been exhausted.

The governor said the comptroller's office had informed him that the 40,826 gallons purchased exceeded the amount authorized by the town board and hence no valid contract existed between the town and the New York Highway Products Corp.

Investigation Commissioner Arthur L. Reuter is probing alleged highway department irregularities in 11 Republican-controlled counties along the Hudson and in the Catskills.

The bill was sponsored by GOP Assemblyman Wilson S. Van Duzer of Orange County.

Ike Renames Seven

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower sent to the Senate today appointments of two U. S. attorneys and five U. S. marshals.

He also submitted nominations of 119 postmasters.

Maurice P. Bois, Manchester, N. H., was appointed U. S. Attorney for New Hampshire and Theodore F. Bowes, Syracuse, N. Y., for northern New York. Reappointed as U. S. marshals were J. Bradbury German Jr., Utica, for northern New York; George M. Glasser, Rochester, for western New York; and Dewey H. Perry, of Essex Junction, for Vermont.

Fiore Out Again

UTICA (AP) — Former Deputy Police Chief Vincent Fiore, who was appointed Monday as a temporary clerk in the city clerk's office, was suspended today.

City Clerk Anthony DeGironimo, who appointed Fiore, said he had suspended him "pending a full and complete disclosure of findings by" acting State Investigation Commissioner Arthur L. Reuter.

DeGironimo said he had learned that Reuter was going to look further into the Fiore matter in regard to "something I know nothing about." He did not elaborate.

May Summon Owners

Preparations were under way at city hall today to summon to court all dog owners who have been delinquent in picking up their dog tags. The deadline for obtaining dog licenses was Feb. 10. The list of delinquents, as of this morning, contained approximately 400 names.

New Course Urged

NASHVILLE (AP) — With many colleges now offering courses on "great books," Methodist Bishop Gerald Ensley of Des Moines, says it is even more important that courses be offered on "great men" — in science, politics, religion and other fields. Christian colleges, being interested in character-building, should take the lead in starting such courses, he said.

No Trails Ordered On City Police Radel Declares

A report yesterday that three women "allegedly employed" by Lt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner, of the State Police, were trailing local police on duty tours, was denied today on the basis of Lt. Weidenborner's assigned duties to assist in reorganization of the local police department.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel, who spiked the report, through telephone contact with Lt. Weidenborner, emphasized that the latter's assistance here is strictly in an advisory capacity. He is not authorized to make any personal contact with department personnel, nor has he jurisdiction to employ anyone as alleged.

A radio report said in effect that if three well dressed "ladies" allegedly employed by Weidenborner to trail the police, were to continue they should dig their rubber sole sneakers out of footlockers and be prepared for tours of garbage dumps, round incinerators and into dark alleys.

The report indicated that the women were watching policemen to make sure they tagged automobiles when they needed to be tagged and were scrutinizing meter collections.

Lt. Weidenborner, it was noted, has duties to which he was previously committed, to complete in Greene County, before he can resume his duties here. Mayor Radel said he had telephoned Weidenborner in the Binghamton area, after the radio report, and the latter laughed off the suggestion that he had made such an assignment.

An official March 6 announcement noting that Lt. Weidenborner would assist in betterment of the local police department, said he had been assigned to assist the necessary reorganization of the physical setup of the police headquarters for modern, efficient operation of the department. The announcement noted that he would "remain with us for the time required to affect the necessary changes."

Bareika Asks

chief counsel for the Reuter Commission, to dismiss the petition of Bareika on the grounds that it was not required that such copy be supplied at this time as there was now no motion made by Reuter against Bareika pending. Nolan said it was against the policy of the commission to supply such copies.

Uses Civil Rights Law
The application was made under a section of the Civil Rights law which states that on payment for the copy, a person may obtain a copy of testimony which is given under such circumstances.

Bareika was summoned earlier this month to New York City before the Reuter investigations commission in connection with the probe into alleged road oil kickbacks to town officials and other alleged bribe payments.

On March 11 Bareika declined to answer questions when called on or to present office records for examination by the Reuter investigators.

Charges Politics
In affidavits submitted yesterday in support of the application for a copy of the examination of Bareika, lack of good faith and political motivation on the part of the Reuter investigators was charged.

The affidavits of Bareika and his counsel, John E. Egan, charged Reuter and Nolan with conducting the investigation along political lines.

Bareika charged he had been "harassed" by Reuter and that Reuter and his staff "or persons in his employ," have "leaked to newspapers—and others evidence offered or sought—at private hearings."

Aim at Republicans
Politics and lack of good faith was further indicated, Bareika and Egan maintained, "by the fact that they (Reuter and Nolan) have studiously limited and restricted their investigations to the affairs of counties, the officials of which are predominantly Republican, and they have studiously and carefully avoided making any investigations or inquiries into the counties, the officials of which are predominantly members of the Democratic party."

Nolan countered that these allegations were "a waste of the court's time." He charged that a "huge and very serious conspiracy" exists and charged that the arguments of opposing counsel were "those of infatuation." He contended that since there was now no summons for Bareika to appear before the investigations commission, nor were there any contempt proceedings presently standing against Bareika, that the motion before the court should be denied.

Bareika sought a copy of the testimony as a right under the Civil Rights law in order to prepare himself for an action which might be brought by Reuter to punish him for contempt, and also because he might again be called before Reuter to again testify.

In defense of the broad nature of the Reuter investigation in Hudson valley counties, Nolan said "we have a very serious conspiracy. He (Bareika) is not the only one in this huge circle."

Package Deal

NEW YORK (AP)—An innovation in selling tickets to Broadway shows has been introduced by Producer David Merrick. Merrick, who has four shows running currently, is putting tickets for all four on sale at all box offices, instead of just offering duets for the play in a particular theater. The Merrick productions include "Jamaica," "Romanoff and Juliet," "Look Back in Anger" and "The Entertainer."

RESOLUTIONS

ON THE DEATH OF HON. ANDREW J. COOK, SR.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Kingston Savings Bank held on March 14th, 1958.

On February 18th, 1958, the City of Kingston was saddened by the death of the Hon. Andrew J. Cook, Sr., for thereby it lost one of its truly great men—those great in moral stature. There are only a few such persons in any generation. Therefore, we who were privileged to have almost daily association with him must now feel a great sense of personal loss. The loss of an example as well as the loss of a friend.

Judge Cook became a member of the Board of Trustees of the Kingston Savings Bank on July 8, 1927, and Vice-President of the Bank on November 8, 1935. Although his civic and fraternal interests were numerous, and his devotion to his profession was unmatched, for he was widely known as an outstanding trial lawyer, nevertheless he gave much time and thought to the affairs of this Bank and wise counsel to the members of its Board. For thirty years we were more than fortunate to have this man of integrity, sound judgment and unselfish zeal as a trustee and officer.

However, we shall miss him not only as a wise trustee and officer but as a friend whose cheerful good humor never failed to make each one of us happier and often gave us a lift when we most needed it. In his passing we mourn the loss of a friend whom we are proud to have known and loved.

We do not agree with Shakespeare that "the evil men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones." Rather, we believe, the converse is true, especially as to Judge Cook. The good he wove, by counsel and example, into the fabric of the Kingston Savings Bank will long survive him and us and be of benefit to countless people who never knew him. This, in itself, is a kind of immortality.

Wherefore, be it
RESOLVED that we, the members of the Board of Trustees of the Kingston Savings Bank and its officers, officially record our deep sense of loss in the death of the Hon. Andrew J. Cook and commend to ourselves and our successors in office the remembrance of this man's high concept of the responsibilities of trusteeship, and be it further RESOLVED that we express to Mrs. Andrew J. Cook and Judge Cook's sons and daughters our deepest sympathy, and be it further.

RESOLVED that these resolutions be spread in full upon the minutes of this meeting and be published in the local press, and that a copy thereof be sent to Mrs. Cook.

U.S. Brushes Off Instant Summit Bid of Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States brushed aside Soviet "instant-summit" propaganda today and stuck to its quest for new level disarmament talks by April.

Officials said the White House will make clear soon that the new U. S. disarmament negotiator, James J. Wadsworth, is authorized to discuss disarmament at any time with a comparable Soviet representative.

Simple Instructions

They said Wadsworth's instructions are simply to (1) keep the allies informed of whatever he does, and (2) get the disarmament deadlock off dead center.

These officials expected a United Nations Disarmament Commission meeting some time in April. But the Russians are boycotting this 25-nation group on the grounds that its membership is stacked against them.

The next planned U. S. move, if the Russians hold to their announced boycott, is to go to the U. N. Security Council for advice on how next to proceed. The Russians have vowed not to discuss disarmament matters themselves there. But officials are confident the Soviets would never boycott the council. The last time they did that, the council authorized use of American and other U. N. troops against the Communists in Korea.

Dulles Takes Over

Secretary of State Dulles returned to Washington yesterday from the Far East, immediately taking charge of U. S. strategy on the disarmament and other likely summit conference topics.

The last few days of Dulles' 10-day stay in the Pacific were marked by a flurry of Soviet public pronouncements.

The effect of these was (1) renewed Soviet emphasis on boycotting the disarmament commission and (2) a four-point Soviet plan agreeing to pledge outer space for peaceful purposes exclusively provided the United States gave up all its overseas bases.

The Russian space-for-peace plan followed the line of proposals made during the past few months by Eisenhower and Dulles. But the Russians added a condition—liquidation of U. S. overseas bases—which Dulles denounced upon his return as "very unacceptable."

Rails Ask State Tax Moratorium

ALBANY (AP)—The railroad industry today appealed to the state for a one-year moratorium on all state taxes and local real estate and franchise levies.

The Associated Railroads of New York State said the industry was "in such a critical situation as to require immediate emergency relief."

The group is backing a six-bill package that would ease railroad taxes. One measure, passed by both Houses, would reduce railroad real estate taxes on future grade crossing elimination projects.

Victor F. Condello, vice chairman of the Associated Railroads, said it appeared that the Legislature would not adopt the program but refer it to the Public Service Commission for study.

Condello said approval of the one-year tax moratorium would "permit continued railroad operation" pending completion of the PSC study.

Report Executions

CAIRO (AP)—Usually reliable sources who say they are in close touch with Saudi Arabia report a wave of executions and arrests there to put down widespread opposition to King Saud's rule.

These reports come at the height of an Egyptian government propaganda campaign against King Saud, which attempts to put the Saudi position in the worst possible light. But it is difficult to check the reports, since newsmen rarely get visas to visit Saudi Arabia and the government there has installed tight control over communications.

Lambert Floor Plan

An advertisement for Island Dock Lumber, Inc. on Shell Homes, which appeared in Monday's edition of The Freeman, inadvertently carried another floor plan for the Lambert Model. The Lambert model floor plan includes a 36 to 24 foot area with attached garage.

3 Villages . . .

board. He said he had been blocked at every turn by the Democratic majority, in practically all of his recommendations, resolutions and suggestions.

He told The Freeman that he and the Republican slate appreciated the support of the community and the confidence manifested in the party and that, with control of the board, they would seek earnestly to keep every pledge made during the recent campaign.

Saugerties Sweep

The entire slate of the Independent Party in the village of Saugerties swept aside the Citizens Protective Party with pluralities of 300 to 400 votes:

Cornelius J. Cox (Ind.), 828; Jesse Van Gaasbeek (Ind.), 810; George Terpening Jr. (Ind.), 842; for trustees, and Attorney G. Thomas Rea (Ind.), 903 for police justice.

Hugo Knauer (CPP), 519; Gerald L. Snyder (CPP), former village clerk, 504; Phillip Breithaupt (CPP), 483, for trustees, and Albert L. Giannotti (CPP), 420, for police justice.

Record for Off-Year

A total of 1,392 votes cast was the "largest off-year election in the history of Saugerties," according to Village Clerk Ernest Ackert.

Cox and Van Gaasbeek were reelected. This is the first time for Terpening, for Rea.

Some idea of the amazing turnout for the election is reflected in the fact that in the last off-year election (non-majority), 1956, only 128 votes were cast.

In 1957, a mayoralty year, a total of 1,789 ballots were cast—1,110 for Mayor Holmes and 674 for former Mayor Arthur F. Simmons.

Mayor Holmes told The Freeman this morning, when asked if he had any comment on the election, that he was "very happy" at the outcome, as were all of the candidates on the Independent Party ticket.

"We are proud," he said, "and will do our best to serve the interests of all the people of Saugerties."

He remarked that it was "quite a victory"—the first time that the Independents had won an off-year election. He expressed appreciation to the candidates for their "hard work" during the campaign.

Mrs. Charles George, Rosendale village clerk, reported an "exceptional turnout" for the vote in that election—a total of 368 ballots cast as the electorate chose a trustee and voted 4 to 1 in favor of bingo.

Harold Schoonmaker (Ind), incumbent trustee, defeated John H. Boyle (D) by a vote of 199 to 165.

The other incumbent trustee on the village board is Harold Krom.

Says Bingo Drew Them

Mrs. George attributed the unusually heavy balloting to the bingo issue.

A state-wide vote last November approved a constitutional amendment permitting communities to authorize the game of chance so long as it was sponsored by a religious, charitable or other non-profit group.

Bingo won handsily in special elections held earlier this year in several other communities of the state, with most voters staying away from the polls.

Many of the cities of the state are expected to hold referendums in the statewide election next November.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel of Kingston has requested Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly to determine if a referendum on bingo can be held along with the forthcoming vote on a school consolidation proposal. If this could be done it would result in the least possible expense to taxpayers, he said.

State Roundup

An Associated Press story from Albany on voting around New York State said:

Margins of more than 10 to 1 were reported in some places, with pluralities of 4 or 5 to 1 common in light to moderate turnouts.

A few localities had close votes, too. Bemus Point, Chautauque County, approved 53-40. The vote was 23-19 in Cherry Valley, Otsego County, and 101-85 in Fishkill, Dutchess County.

Other votes were lopsided—133 yes and 7 no in Van Etten, Chemung County; 97-8 in Mayfield, Fulton County, and 142-13 in Pawling, Dutchess County.

A statewide vote last November approved a constitutional amendment permitting communities to authorize the game of chance so long as it was sponsored by a religious, charitable or other non-profit group.

Yesterday's referendums coincided with regular village elections in most places. The turnout was noticeably better in those communities.

Many Cities to Vote

Many of the state's cities are expected to hold referendums in the statewide election next November.

In Albany yesterday, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz declared in an informal opinion that cities might vote on bingo this November even though no city officers are being chosen.

Lefkowitz said the opinion was requested by John C. Krieger, city attorney of Salamanca.

Trustees Can Rule

In another development yesterday, the Assembly passed and sent to the Senate a bill under which village trustees could overrule the vote of a town or village. Trustees could prohibit playing within village limits regardless of town action.

Village voters, at a future date, could decide to play and cancel out the trustees' prohibition.

The legislation was introduced by William S. Calli, Oneida County Republican.

The game will be controlled by the newly created State Lottery Commission.

Winter Bowling Out, Spring Due Thursday Night

By The Associated Press

Today was the last full day of the winter season and except in some southern areas generally cool weather prevailed in most of the country. The spring season officially starts at 10:06 p. m. tomorrow.

However, there was some relief from the persistent wet weather across the country. Rain and snow diminished during the night in many areas, although there were still several wet spots.

More rain and snow fell in eastern states, with rain extending from Florida northward through the mid-Atlantic states. Light snow fell across the eastern coastal states inter-mountains from western Virginia northward through New York State.

Skies were cloudy in most areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast. Scattered snow or snow flurries continued from sections of the central Rockies eastward through parts of Kansas and the Dakotas to the upper Great Lakes region.

Clear weather dipped into most of the Gulf states and the upper Mississippi Valley during the night but a slight warming trend was reported in most other parts of the country. The nation's coldest weather appeared to center in the west central plains. Temperatures were near zero at North Platte, Neb., and dropped to 12 below at Hill City, in eastern Kansas.

The mercury reached the 80s in southern Florida yesterday but readings in the 40s were general from Alabama into Texas.

Raps Union Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lyman C. Conger, counsel to the Kohler Co., told Senate racketeers today the United Auto Workers union had used "every coercive and illegal weapon" against the firm.

Conger denounced union tactics in a 50-page statement that was introduced in evidence without being read aloud, a time saving idea to which he agreed.

The racketeers committee is investigating violence that has marked the UAW's four-year strike against the company, makers of bathroom fixtures at Kohler, Wis. The strike remains unsettled, but the company is operating with a staff of non-strikers, and new employees.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in the early afternoon today after a three day losing streak.

Leaders were up fractions to about 2 points. Some favorites fared better and tobacco shares were in good demand. There were a few small losers.

The market advanced at the opening, backed away slightly, then pushed to its highs for the day in early afternoon.

Trading was fairly active. Turnover was heaviest at the start and during the midday rally.

Brokers attributed some buying to short covering. The monthly short interest total will be announced late today and Wall Street expects an increase over last month.

Steels showed some improvement near midday.

Most other major divisions were ahead fractions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 60 cents at $162.80. Industrials rose $1.20, rails were up 40 cents and utilities dipped 10 cents.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in slow trading.

The bond issue must be paid off, Main said, and "we should be extremely careful not to impair (Whiteface's) earning power."

For that reason, Main said, the committee is giving thorough study to a development on Gore Mountain at North Creek before going into detailed work.

State Campsites To Open May 28

Conservation Commissioner Sharon J. Mauhs today set May 28 as the opening date this year for the Department's public campsites in the Adirondack and Catskill regions.

Commissioner Mauhs stated that while the general opening date for these popular recreational areas will be May 28, caretakers will go on duty earlier at a number of campsites to accommodate fishermen and early-season campers and picnickers.

The campsites which will open early are: Beaverkill Campsite, Sullivan County, April 11; Caroga Lake Campsite, Fulton County, May 16; Cumberland Bay Campsite, Clinton County, May 1; Forked Lake Campsite, Hamilton County, April 1; Hearststone Point Campsite, Warren County, May 16; Lewey Lake Campsite, Hamilton County, May 16; Macomb Reservation Campsite, Clinton County, May 1; Moffitt Beach Campsite, Hamilton County, May 16; Northampton Beach Campsite, Fulton County, May 16; Sacandaga Campsite, Hamilton County, May 16; Wilmington Notch Campsite, Essex County, May 2.

The Beaverkill Campsite is located on the famous trout stream of the same name in the southern Catskills, while the others listed above are all in the Adirondack region.

It was pointed out by the Commissioner in making his announcement that camping is one of the most rapidly increasing forms of outdoor recreation. Camping use of the Department's 36 public campsites in 1957 increased by 18 per cent over the 1956 season. "We expect another substantial increase this year," the Commissioner said.

Commissioner Mauhs called attention also to the new Macomb Reservation Campsite, Clinton County, which will open for the first time this year. This new campsite is located on Davis Lake about 14 miles southwest of Plattsburg. It affords facilities for camping, picnicking and bathing.

Matter of FACT

The word history comes from a Greek word meaning inquiry. It was first given its modern meaning by Herodotus, an Ionian Greek. In the middle of the fifth century B.C. he wrote his "History," an inquiry into the causes of the long wars between the Greeks and the Persians. Even though he was not an accurate historian, Herodotus reconstructed a past period and made it live again.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Presently have quite a batch of items, so kindly sent in by readers of this column, so if you do not see your items published soon, please have patience. Every written and signed item is carefully read, and sometimes it takes a little time to check it and of course these columns are written ahead unless timely such is about weather, storms etc. Give your phone number wherever possible and your address and print all names to avoid misspelling. If you do not care for your name to be used it still must be on your information for my own records. Of course all old photographs are always welcome. Many come to me in envelopes without sender's name. I appreciate them, especially if they are of well known local events and can only thank the senders through the column.

Received a letter from John

W. Schlig of 16 South Walnut Street, Beacon. He writes in part: "While visiting one Hudson River Boatman Home I came across the Kingston Daily Freeman and Do You Remember by Sophie Miller. It seems you have been getting history of river boats. Could you give me any information of the William R. Romer, and the Central Hudson that ran out of Rondout Creek to New York. Then he lists: James Balwin, small passenger boat running from Rondout Creek to Glasco, (Glenerie) became the Elihu Bunker; the John McCausland, Frank W. Roosa, Edwin B. Gardiner. Could I get any pictures of these boats, if so where. Your early information will be gladly appreciated."

The following is the only information I found on the above questions, perhaps boatmen reading this column may know more: The James Baldwin was later named the Central Hudson. The "James W. Baldwin" was built in 1861, by the M. S. Allison Company at Jersey City, N. J. Its gross tonnage was listed at 710 tons. Its length was 242 feet. Its beam 34 feet and its depth was 9 feet. It ran between New York and Rondout and in a reference book dated 1909 it was still running. It was later named the "Central Hudson" and its gross tonnage was listed then as 1,002 tons. The engine was furnished by W. & A. Fletcher Co.

Incidentally in that same book it says that the famous Mary Powell was built in 1861 by the same M. S. Allison Co. of Jersey City and her gross tonnage was 983, its length 260, its beam 34 feet and depth was 10 feet. They both ran over 50 years.

The small passenger boat which Mr. Schlig mentions by name of "Frank W. Roosa" was built in 1883 at Greenbush, its gross tonnage being 34 tons. The small passenger boat named "Elihu Bunker" was built in 1887 at Eddyville, its gross tonnage being 48 tons. The well known passenger boat, "Edwin B. Gardiner," was built in 1897, at City Island, its gross tonnage being 122 tons. There were many "yachts" built around this section, in Eddyville, New Salem etc., yards, and steamed up and down the creek as passenger boats.

Embarrassing Problem

FORT WORTH, Texas (P)—A Southern Baptist missionary, the Rev. W. O. Harper, back from Africa, told a seminary conference here: "It is embarrassing when we have to tell our Nigerian youth who plan to visit America that they will not be welcome in the churches that send missionaries to them."

Miss Kingston Entry Deadline Is March 26

The deadline for entries in the Miss Kingston contest sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce is March 26, it was announced today by Robert E. Gardiner, publicity chairman.

One of 12 finalists will be selected for the Miss Kingston title in the pageant scheduled April 19 at the George Washington School auditorium.

Albert Trowbridge, general pageant chairman, and Warren Schoonmaker of the entire committee reminded candidates that the local winner will compete for the Miss New York title and an opportunity to compete for the Miss America title.

Trowbridge urged young ladies to fill in an entry blank which appears in The Freeman or write a letter care of the Jaycees. March 26 is the deadline for all entries, he said.

Schoonmaker noted that the entire committee must interview all nominees before the selection of the 12 finalists.

Contest rules stipulate that entrants must be single and never married between the ages of 18 and 28 on Sept. 1, 1958 and must have been a resident for six months prior to the local contest. Residence rules are waived for college students attending an institution in this area.

Wiley Against Tax Cut at Present Time

BUFFALO (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) says he is against a federal tax cut at this time.

"What good would it do the unemployed? They're not paying taxes," Wiley told reporters yesterday.

The senator was here to address an advertising club.

He said a tax cut "would mean taking the ability to pay for more jobs away from the federal government."

He said the recession was due to fear and negative thinking, not a lack of buying power.

"The purchasing power of the nation is at an all-time high," he said. "Never before have the people's savings been so great."

Thruway Revenue Good During Winter

ALBANY (AP)—The Thruway Authority said today that the super-highway's revenue kept flowing upward this winter, despite the raging snowstorms.

C. B. F. Brill, authority chairman, said gross toll revenue for January and February totaled $2,716,578, a gain of 7.6 per cent over the same two months last year.

Total revenue was $3,153,238, an increase of 6.5 per cent over the corresponding period of 1957.

While the storms curtailed traffic across the state, Brill said, trucks turned to the Thruway because of its "superior ice and snow-control work," Brill said.

Quaker Joins Crew

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Quaker teacher has been added to the crew of the Golden Rule, the 30-foot ketch that sails next weekend to protest nuclear tests in the Marshall Islands in the Pacific.

Orion Sherwood, 28, was selected yesterday to replace David Gale, Carver, Minn., who became ill on the Golden Rule's first attempt, turned back by foul weather.

Sherwood is a teacher at Oakwood Quaker School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He is a graduate of the University of Utah.

Area Men Attend Seminar in Ohio

Donald Westlake, engineer, of Newburgh, and Keith Smiley, of Mohonk House, Lake Mohonk, have returned from German town, O., where they were delegates at a Quaker seminar on U. S.-Soviet disarmament. In attendance were 140 representatives from different parts of the United States.

At the four-day sessions the conference members discussed steps for reducing arms in such a manner that neither country might gain an advantage, and that such agreements be carried out with adequate scientific inspection by monitoring teams under the jurisdiction of the United Nations. It was felt that such steps toward disarmament would be to the mutual advantage of the two countries—and even should be viewed as self-preservation.

One purpose of the seminar was to make suggestions for study of the disarmament question in local communities and to make information available, through the delegates, to interested groups.

Slides, Lecture Feature of Lions Meeting Tuesday

An illustrated slide lecture was presented at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club Tuesday by Mrs. Mabel Anderson of the New York Telephone Company.

The slides were of "the world's most fabulous city presented in color through a sensational new photographic technique."

Mrs. Anderson took the Lions on a "grand tour" of the metropolis—from the glare of Broadway to the ancient beauty and serenity of the Cloisters.

Mrs. Anderson was introduced by Gordon Kent, chairman of the program committee.

"What was wrong with our bidding?" writes an Atlanta reader. "We reached four spades all right but as you can see from the hand six was a lay-down and it would have taken some very bad breaks to cause us any trouble. Was the fault North's, South's or both partners'?"

The entire fault was North's. Even though he only held nine high card points his two club response was sound and when both opponents bid hearts and his partner bid spades, North could well have afforded to jump right to four instead of merely bidding three.

If South had merely gone on to four spades he might have been given some blame but South gave his partner one more chance. He bid four clubs.

North could not have been sure that this four club bid was a slam try but he did not have to be sure. He had a simple bid to find out. Four diamonds!

Not only would this bid have taken North off the hook but it would have passed the buck back to South.

South should have been able to mark his partner with a singleton heart since he would have bid club, raised spades and then raised diamonds. South could have checked for aces and bid the spade slam.

Bloomfield Is New

Philharmonic Director

ROCHESTER (AP) — Theodore Bloomfield, conductor and music director of the Portland, Ore.,

Symphony Orchestra has been named new director of the Rochester Philharmonic, effective with the 1959-60 season.

Bloomfield, 35, succeeds Erich Leinsdorf who resigned in June, 1956.

Bloomfield's appointment, under a three-year contract, was announced yesterday by Thomas H. Hawks, president of the Civic Music Assn.

Bloomfield is a former assistant conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra. He will make his first local appearance as a guest conductor next October.

"MOON" DOG?—Soviet physiologist Ada Kotovskaya, who trained "Laika," the first canine space traveler, is pictured in her Moscow laboratory working on another of her canine subjects. She is one of the many women scientists in Russia who are studying the effects of space travel on living organisms. The caption accompanying the photo, supplied by an official Soviet source, did not say whether or not this little fellow was destined for a ride in one of Russia's future "moons."

Actually Reds Were First

GOP, Democrats Claim Idea Of UN Control of Outer Space

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Beginning to feel squirrely? It's them Russians again. They just came up with an idea that was good propaganda for the Democrats and Republicans, and left everybody exactly no place.

This was the idea: The United Nations should control outer space. The Democrats complained that they had the idea first, that the Russians grabbed it, and that the Eisenhower administration should have grabbed it before the Russians.

Ike's Idea: Dulles To all of which Secretary of State Dulles reacted like a man saying: "What's all this I'm hearing? It was the President's idea."

Actually the Russians came up with two ideas. Together the Democrats and Republicans jumped on the second one. They want no part of it. But, since the Russians made it an all-or-nothing proposition, the score is: 0.

In their current literary marathon on peace and a summit meeting, Eisenhower has written Premier Bulganin three letters, Bulganin has written him four.

Last Jan. 12 Eisenhower suggested "we agree that outer space be used only for peaceful purposes." This was pretty vague. No mention of the U. N. But on Jan. 14 Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic Senate boss, did mention the U. N.

He proposed this country take the initiative in suggesting before the U. N. that all nations "join in the adventure into outer space together." No matter what he had in mind, Johnson didn't quite say the U. N. should control outer space.

Omits Mentioning U.N.

Once again, when he wrote Bulganin Feb. 15, Eisenhower omitted mention of the U. N. but vaguely, he talked of "cooperative international procedures to give reality to the idea of the use of outer space for peace only."

Bulganin through all this was even vaguer than Eisenhower, and both were vaguer than Johnson, who on Feb. 3 called for a "joint exploration of outer space by the United Nations."

Then the Russians pulled a fast one on March 15. They by-passed the letter-writing campaign.

The Soviet Foreign Office issued a statement, made public at once to get the maximum propaganda benefit, proposing the U. N. control not only outer space but also the "elimination" of American overseas bases. This was a one-package deal.

Democrats and Republicans promptly turned it down: This country wants those overseas bases, from which American bombers could hit Russia in a hurry if the Soviets attacked.

Not Specific

But the Democrats indignantly protested that Eisenhower certainly should have used the first half of the proposal—U. N. control of outer space—which they said Johnson had come up with first.

Dulles, right after returning from Asia yesterday, recalled that Eisenhower had proposed international control of outer space. Did he? If that's what he had in mind, he didn't say it in so many words. But neither did Johnson.

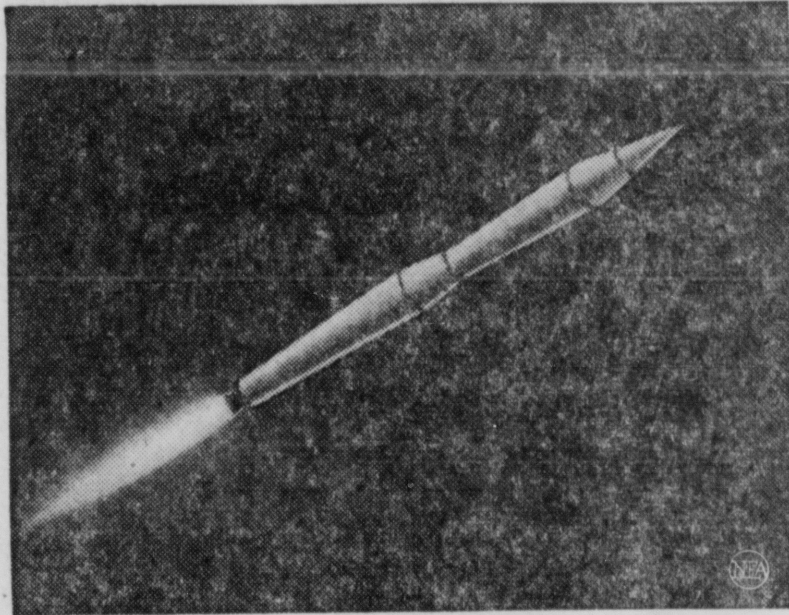

Revere Cancels Its Fair Trade Contracts

NEW YORK (AP)—Revere Copper and Brass Inc. has canceled its fair-trade contracts with retailers, as of today.

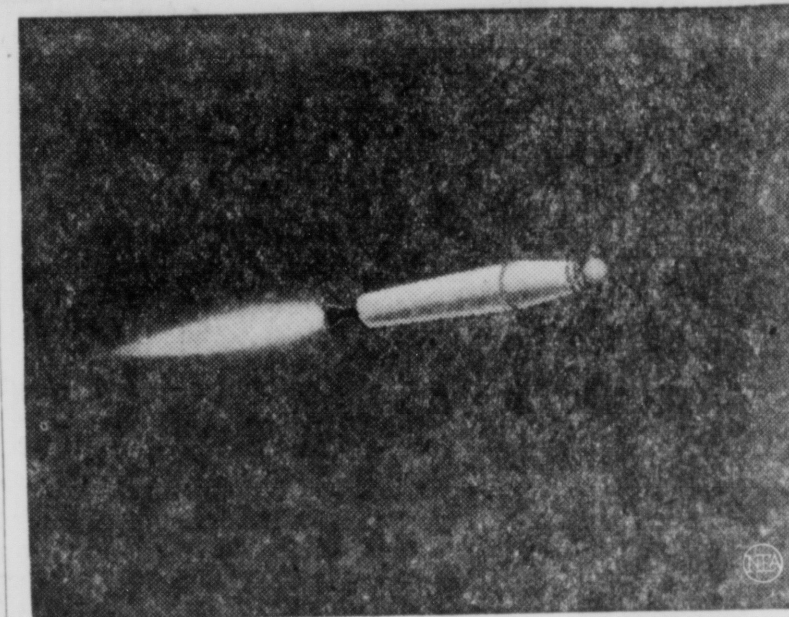

The cancellations apply to copper-clad stainless-steel cooking utensils and other non-electric housewares sold under the Revere label.

General Electric Co., for many years the nation's No. 1 proponent of fair trade, and Sunbeam abandoned it three weeks ago. A price war in small electrical appliances resulted.

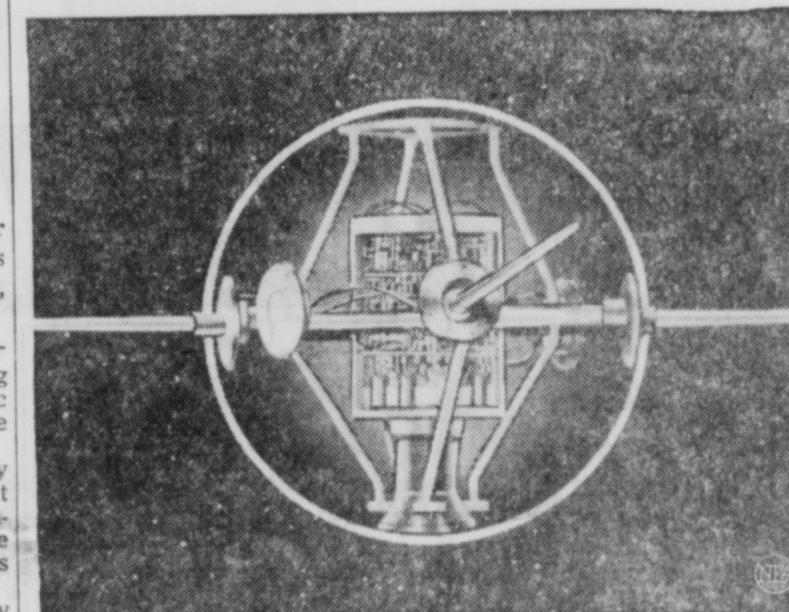

Revere's sales manager, Harry J. McCormick, said yesterday the company still believes in fair trade but "recently strong adherents of air trade have obviously found it necessary to change their position. Our own position in trying to maintain fair trade under such adverse conditions has become untenable."

First stage of Vanguard as angle of flight flattens out. Baby "moon" rides in nose cone.

Second-stage rocket takes over. Nose cone has been jettisoned, satellite is exposed on tip of third-stage rocket.

Baby "moon," a miniature of this 20-inch-diameter sphere, is loaded with instruments, including two radios.

Up With Vanguard ---

Sequence drawings above depict Vanguard in its flight from earth to put a baby "moon" into orbit. The first stage of the 72-foot-long rocket provided most of the power. It carried Vanguard 36 miles above the earth to a speed of 3,700 m.p.h. Second stage pushed the rocket to an altitude of 128 miles and speed of 9,000 m.p.h. Third stage—enclosed at forward end of second stage—boosted satellite to speed of 18,000 m.p.h., then a spring mechanism set the aluminum sphere free. Both satellite and third stage went into orbit.

Three Are Drowned As Car Goes Into Creek

ALBION (AP)—Three unemployed factory workers, heading for a fishing trip, were drowned yesterday when their automobile plunged into a creek north of this Orleans County village.

A fourth man, thrown clear, was saved from the creek. Dead were Charles W. Anderson, 33; John A. Cox, 21; and George J. Kreiwatis, 27, all of Albion.

Clayton Cox, 24, brother of John, was hospitalized in fair condition after he was pulled from the water.

Police said the automobile, traveling at high speed, missed a sharp curve leading to a bridge, struck a telephone pole and plunged through a wire fence into Oak Orchard Creek, 10 feet below.

Dies of Injuries

TROY (AP)—Frank D. Orvitt, 69, of Rockland, Mass., died today in Samaritan Hospital of injuries suffered in a two-car collision last Friday in Route 146 near Averill Park.

Boy, 8, Happy Over Three Baby Sharks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Victor Baliberra, aged 8, has never been happier. He has three sharks in his bathtub.

Victor caught a 30-inch sand shark alive off the Ft. Mason pier Monday, and persuaded his father, Joseph, a carpenter, to let him take it home along with some sea water to make it comfortable.

The shark died that night, but not until it had given birth to three babies.

Looks to Future

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—State Sen. Robert I. McCarthy could well be looking to the future.

Yesterday he introduced a resolution asking Congress to grant special income tax deductions to parents of college students. His ninth child was born Saturday.

Swallows Arriving, Weather Called Reason by Curator

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP)—The swallows came back to Capistrano early this year. Also on time. Also late.

The story goes that for 25 years, or 67, or 182—depending on your choice of the version—the swallows have been returning to San Juan Capistrano Mission on St. Joseph's Day, March 19.

Well, yesterday was March 18, and the old mission was aswarm with swallows. About 100 were swooping and diving overhead. How come?

A worker cementing ancient tiles together paused and pointed his trowel at the cloud of birds.

"Oh, them," he said. "Those are scouts. They always send a few scouts ahead."

Kenneth Stager, curator of birds and mammals of Los Angeles County Museum, says experts scoff at the legend of the swallows' time table. He called it a "farical story."

Says It's Weather

"Their arrival depends on the weather, not the calendar," he said yesterday. "The birds winter in South America and then move up here as the weather turns warm."

Their arrival may cover a month's time, he said.

Grey-haired Tony Oliveras, who runs a restaurant in the town where he was born, has spent much of this century watching swallows come and go.

"We never used to pay them any attention back in the old days," he said. "They were just birds, to us. It seems to me this talk about the swallows arriving March 19 didn't start until about 1932."

No Official Claims

Although the parochial school at the mission celebrates "Swallow Day" with a pageant, the mission fathers don't make any official claims that the swallows' sense of timing is infallible.

Most of the swallow legend boosters are residents of the little community surrounding the 182-year-old mission in the foothills 60 miles south of Los Angeles.

Once when the swallows were late the boosters said leap year confused the birds. Another year they said the weather had been too bad for flying.

Swifts are the swiftest of birds. Two species in India have been clocked at 170 to 200 miles an hour.

Neckties to Be Much Brighter

New neckwear for spring and summer will be brighter and more lively than they have been in several years. Light colored grounds accentuated with touches of strong hue make for a fresh new appearance at the all-important neck zone.

Silvery shades of white, gray, tan and blue carry subtle overtones in deeper expressions of the same colors to add a note of elegance to Easter outfits as well as to those worn into the summer months.

Woven patterns on luxurious silks, which are keyed to the new suiting shades, range from isolated touches of interest on the tie body to all-over effects—some in abstract designs and others in motifs that vary from travel scenes to hobbies and sports.

Fine imported cottons carrying both the traditional English prints and the bolder Continental designs are among the late spring and summer favorites. Most of these are on white or pale pastel grounds and some have new soil-resistant finishes.

Ivy fans will prefer the deeper tones in foulards as well as in the lightweight wool challis. Of course, they will also like the new rep stripes made in dusty tones as well as traditional regimental and club stripes.

Fatal Mishap

OGDENSBURG (AP)—Seven-year-old Carol Jean Price of Waddington was injured fatally yesterday when she was struck by a dump truck.

State police said the girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Price, was struck while she and her brothers were in front of their home waiting for a school bus.

All of our customers are agreed our "maker to wearer" prices save them money. Why not you, too?

MRS. HOWARD J. HUMPHRIES (Photo Workshop)

Barbara Maines Weds Howard Humphries
In Double Ring Ceremony at Rosendale

Miss Barbara Anne Maines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander T. Maines of 117 Wall Street, became the bride of Howard Joseph Humphries, son of Mrs. Mary Humphries, Westbury, Conn., and Howard Humphries, Wallingford, Conn., Sunday, March 16 at 8 p. m. in the Rosendale Reformed Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Cuyler Ten Eyck Thayer, pastor.

William Dunn was at the organ. Soloist for the occasion was J. Paul Whitten.

White carnations and white snapdragons decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of brocade satin, fashioned with princess lines, empire bodice, scoop neckline, long pointed sleeves and full skirt which terminated into a chapel sweet train. Her tiara of iridescent orange blossoms and rhinestones held a fingertip nylon tulle veil. The bride carried a heart-shaped cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. Herbert Ayres of High Falls was the matron of honor. She wore a beige silk organza floor length gown styled with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The bodice of the gown was encircled with a band of pleated organza which was carried to the back and fell in floating panels over the full skirt. She wore a crown of nylon braid and seed pearls to which was attached a circular tulle flirtation veil. Mrs. Ayres carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations and ivy.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Jacqueline Fourie of Ruby, Miss Marion Resso, Kingston, Miss Doris Basta, Merrick, L. I., and Miss Louise Ronk, cousin of the bride from Newburgh. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor.

Thomas Wright Burnett Maines, brother of the bride, served as best man. Ushers included Richard Stolz, William Stolz, Lake Katrine; John Ford, Kingston; and Herbert Ayres of High Falls.

A reception was held at Williams Lake Hotel immediately following the church ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is now a junior at New Paltz State Teachers College.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of Waterbury High School, Waterbury, Conn., attended the University of Connecticut School of Engineering. He is employed by the New York State Department of Public Works as a highway engineer.

For her wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a navy blue jacket dress with black and white accessories, winter white coat and a corsage of red roses.

The couple plan to make their home on Parrish Lane, Lake Katrine, when they return.

HOSTS WHO DO NOT GO TO CHURCH

Dear Mrs. Post: When spending a weekend in someone's house, is it proper for a guest to ask the host, or hostess, to drive her to church on Sunday if they are of another denomination and do not go themselves? I mean, of course, when the guest does not have a car of her own and the church is not within walking distance.

Answer: She can ask her hosts to order a taxi for her, but she should not expect that they get up early to drive her on the one morning in the week that they can sleep late.

The Wedding Flowers

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married shortly and would like to know who buys the flowers for the bridal party. I always thought the ushers bought the flowers for the bridesmaids and the best man bought the flowers for the maid of honor. I have heard recently that the bride is supposed to pay for all the flowers, including her own bouquet. Will you please tell me what is correct?

Answer: The bride's parents pay for all the flowers for the decoration of the church, the bride's bouquet (although in many communities this is bought for her by the bridegroom), the flowers carried by the maid-of-honor and the bridesmaids. The groom buys his own, his best man's and his ushers' boutonnières. He also buys his bride a corsage to wear away.

Should She Send a Present?

Dear Mrs. Post: Two young people were quietly married two months ago. The parents of the bridegroom are having a large reception for them within two weeks when they return to this city. Being a close friend of the bridegroom's mother I received an invitation to this reception. Am I expected to send a present?

Answer: If, because of your friendship for the groom's mother, you feel like sending a present, you do so, but there is no obligation to send one.

Personal showers are enjoyable and can be inexpensive. The gifts can be gadgets or food parcels, according to the shower, attractively wrapped and the cards amusing. Mrs. Post's leaflet E-13, "Showers," includes suggestions. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Children Entertain at Home

Residents at the Home for the Aged, Washington Avenue, were entertained Monday, March 17 with a program by piano and elocution pupils of Miss Ethel Mauterstock, 103 Hone Street.

The new Children's Room of the Kingston Library opened Monday, March 17 with a showing of children's pictures on the subject of "My Favorite Story."

The library committee of the Junior League invited every class of the Kingston Elementary and parochial schools to submit the three best pictures on the subject. From this group the current exhibit was chosen.

Every picture, however, that was received from the schools will be included in successive showings during the following months. This committee urges every parent, as well as all the city children, to visit the Children's Library Room and see this exhibit which we understand to be the first art show given representing every class from every school in the city. Imagination and individuality shown in numerous pictures, together with unusual and varying techniques do great credit to the art teachers as well as the children themselves. Every picture carries the name of the child, grade, school and subject.

The following League members, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Hobbs, assisted in the art project; the Mmes. Robert MacKinnon, Richard Kuehne, Edward deGroff, John Larkin, Henry Haltermann, William Darling, Amos Newcombe and Clarence Beehler.

To further the interest of every child, in the Library, the Junior League Children Theater Committee will present an informal program on Saturday, March 22 in the Children's Room at 11 o'clock and again at 2 o'clock in the afternoon under the title of "Story-Book Characters Come to Life."

Awards Presented To Scout Leaders

During the March roundtable meeting of Kingston District of Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, held Monday at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Mrs. Justin Beck and Gordon Craig Jr. were presented with leader awards. Mrs. Beck, of 15 Fairview Avenue received the Den Mothers Training Award and Craig, Port Ewen, was presented with the Scouters' Key. Den Mothers Training award calls for completion of basic and additional training, including Cubbers Pow-Wow and for two years successful operation of a den by National Council standards. Commissioner Training Key is awarded for completion of basic and additional training and a minimum of three years of top commissioner service.

The candidates are reviewed and approved by the Rip Van Winkle Council Training Committee, Dr. Robert Ploss, 45 Downs Street, chairman.

The meeting was attended by 98 Scouters and Den Mothers with 28 of the 34 Units in the Kingston District present.

The Scout section under the leadership of Assistant District Commissioner Robert Tremper discussed the April theme of Conservation, Camping and Hiking. The Cub section with Assistant District Commissioner Craig made plans for the April theme of "Keep America Beautiful." Spring clean-up and anti-litter are a part of this effort.

Pack 13, sponsored by the P.T.A. of School 7 conducted the program theme. The following cubbers presented materials and plans: Bernard Orr, cubmaster; Willard Joy, assistant cubmaster and Den Mothers Nellie Safford, Myrtle Storm, Ellen Angstrom, Christine Beck, Evelyn Lyke and Marge Cline.

The district committee, under the leadership of Lewis Wallace Jr., reviewed the district progress and made plans for the months ahead.

Oliver Tweedy reported new packs were being organized at School 3, Ponckhockie Church and Esopus.

Keron O'Neil, health and safety chairman outlined the safety campaign. For March, April and May the Scouts and Explorer teams are to develop traffic safety presentation to be given to troops and packs. Nine of the best presentations are to then be used in the schools where practical. Bicycle safety inspection could follow such presentation and a plan for this is to be developed.

TO CUPID
O, harbinger of wedded bliss
Who made his charms so winsome,
I ask you now
To show me how To live within his income.

—Kathryn Gelander.
It was enough to startle the little old lady out of her wits.
There was the fishmonger tossing trout clear across his shop to a man in fisherman's outfit.
The fisherman caught about six of them and then said, "All right,

Joe. Now I can truthfully tell my family that I caught six fish today."

It might be a good idea to get tomorrow patented. It is the best labor-saving device yet.

A tight-fisted old man who was feeling very ill asked a friend to recommend a physician. The friend named a certain specialist noted no less for his professional skill than for his wit.

Sick man—Is he very expensive?
Friend—Well, not so very.
He'll charge you ten dollars for the first visit and five for each one after that.

The old fellow soon afterward waddled into the office of the physician named by his friend, and, upon being admitted to the consulting room, laid down five dollars, remarking,

Sick man—Well, doctor, here
I am again.
The physician calmly picked up the money and put it into a drawer, which he locked securely.
The sick man looked on, expectantly awaiting the next move.

Sick man—Well, I'm ready to be examined.
Specialist—I don't think it's necessary. There's no need to do it again. Keep right on taking the same medicine. Good day, sir.

Businessmen Also Invited to School Tour on March 25

Reservations for the School Visitation Day on March 25 are being received by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. The hope was also expressed that more businessmen would signify their intention to visit the schools on that day.

This program is sponsored by the Education Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. It is the reverse of the successful B-E Day program when over 250 teachers visited various industries and places of business.

In the letter to Chamber members Committee chairman James D. Hood had this to say, "Education and the facilities which provide it are the responsibility of every citizen. Too often we leave everything to the School Board, grumble a bit—pay our taxes and then ignore the whole subject. This program, "Hood said, "is designed to acquaint our businessmen with our schools and to show where and how our school taxes are spent."

The program calls for a general conference in the high school auditorium at 11 a. m., March 25. Because of the intense interest in the consolidation question part of the general session will be devoted to this subject. At 11:45 the group will be divided into small units, each one to visit one of the 10 public schools in the city. After luncheon at each school, classes will be visited and questions answered. It is planned to end the program by 2:30.

Reservations may be made by calling the Chamber office.

'Flying Saucer'

Navy to Unveil Its Newest Air Defense Device

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass. (AP) — The Navy publicly unveils today a "flying saucer"—its newest air defense patrol device.

Termed the "strangest shape in the sky," the disc-shaped saucer rides piggy-back on a huge radar research plane and is a sky sentinel that can detect and warn of enemy attack over vast distances.

The radar flying saucer — the name the Navy gave it — is expected to bolster greatly the perimeter of America's air defense. The saucer is a 37-foot-wide radome which rotates during flight and is carried by a huge aircraft known as WV-2E, resembling a Super Constellation airliner, the plane was built by Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

The disc is in effect a super vision electronic eye that can report on objects in the sky from sea level to 100,000 feet altitudes.

Ferrers Expecting 4th Child in October

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rosemary Clooney and her husband, Jose Ferrer, are expecting their fourth child in October.

The singer said yesterday she plans to take a year off from television when her current show ends in June.

The couple's other children are Miguel, 3, Maria, 2, and Gabriel, 7 months.

College Cycle

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan State University student has a unique solution to the problem of getting from class to class on the sprawling MSU campus here. Bob Johnson, a senior from Clawson, Mich., discovered his ability to balance a unicycle is a step-saver. What's more, Johnson says, a unicycle is the only means of transportation not under regulation. Although students are not permitted to ride bicycles on the sidewalks, he claims no law prohibits his one-wheeler. Johnson says steering is all with the hips. He rides with hands free to carry books. "And I haven't hit anyone yet," he says.

Smallest Acreage Spring Planting Looms This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers may plant the smallest acreage to crops this year in more than 40 years. Surplus-control programs provide part of the reason.

The Agriculture Department's spring planting survey report indicated that the total acreage grown to all crops this year may be about 33 million acres, the smallest since before 1917.

But this would be only one million less than last year—an acreage which produced a record-setting volume of crops. With improved moisture supplies in the Great Plains this year, crop production could approach if not surpass last year's volume.

Perhaps the most significant development in the survey is the prospect of a smaller total acreage to livestock feed grains. Smaller acreages of oats, grain sorghums and barley were indicated, but a slightly larger acreage of corn was forecast.

A reduction in feed grain production would be welcomed by many growers and the government because of the existence now of record surpluses and the danger that they might encourage over-expansion in livestock production.

A larger acreage of food grains—wheat, rice and rye—was indicated.

Crops for which larger acreages were forecast included potatoes, sweet potatoes and dry beans.

The department said the prospective acreage for dry beans in New York State was 105,000 acres or 100 per cent of last year's plantings.

The prospective acreages for potatoes in New York were 34,000 acres upstate or 96 per cent of last year's plantings; and 51,000 acres on Long Island or 102 per cent of last year.

Amos 'n' Andy Begin 40th Year

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In this day of feuding comics, it's pleasant to report that Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden today begin their 40th year of partnership — and their 31st year as Amos 'n' Andy.

Back in 1918 the two started producing home talent shows together. Then in 1920, they did a blackface sketch over an experimental wireless station in New Orleans.

This led to the gag that Marconi got Amos 'n' Andy when he tuned in the first wireless.

For their first eight years at WGN, Chicago, Correll and Gosden were known as Sam 'n' Henry. Their contract forbade them to take the name with them when they changed to another station. So on March 19, 1928, the radio world first heard of Amos 'n' Andy.

The two have never had a contract with each other—or a feud. "We've just kept too busy," explains Gosden. And Correll adds:

"We are direct opposites in dispositions—we give and take, and we are careful not to hurt each other. We see each other socially quite often but not enough to get on each other's nerves."

When will they retire?

"Never," they chorus.

RETRACTS STORY — Marie McDonald leaves Los Angeles, Calif., district attorney's office March 18. She admitted that her recent charge that her husband, Harry Karl, engineered her 1957 kidnaping was a hoax. The actress-singer said she dreamed up the charge in a fit of anger. (AP Wirephoto)

Marie Now Says Husband Not in Kidnaping Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald has tearfully denied her story that her estranged husband arranged to have her kidnaped last year.

Elegantly dressed in the new "sack look," Miss McDonald, 34, met yesterday with law enforcement officers. They questioned her about the story she told two weeks ago in Cincinnati that her husband, wealthy shoeman Harry Karl, masterminded the kidnaping.

Retracts Story Dabbling her eyes with a handkerchief, the actress, known as "the body" told reporters later: "Just say that I am retracting the whole story."

Karl called her accusation ridiculous. He took a lie detector test Monday. Later Police Chief William H. Parker said Karl had no guilty knowledge of the kidnaping. Miss McDonald told the Los Angeles County grand jury last year that two men unknown to her kidnaped her from her Encino, Calif., home in January 1957, and freed her 24 hours later on the desert 150 miles away. She did not then accuse Karl.

Back at Start "We are right back where we were when the grand jury closed its inquiry without voting indictments," Dist. Atty. William McKesson said. This case is an unsolved one, but closed unless there are further developments.

Miss McDonald's attorney, Jerry Giesler, said: "She repudiated certain previous statements. The reason? Well, as you know 'hell hath no fury like a woman scorned.'"

An educational program will be devoted to discussions of subjects of utmost importance to the real estate business by persons outstanding in their respective fields.

The morning session getting underway at 10 a. m. will feature a talk on "Promoting Home Ownership" by J. Leo Good-year, realtor of Hamburg, Estate planning and taxes for realtors and their clients will be discussed by Eugene J. Steiner, Albany attorney and CPA.

President William Robert Blake will address the group at the noon luncheon and a panel discussion will follow with all speakers participating.

All members of the Ulster County Real Estate Board are urged to attend this conference and reservations may be made at the meeting Friday.

Self-Help Dairy Program Opposed By Ezra Benson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson is ready to recommend rejection of a proposed self-help dairy program now being advanced by some dairy and farm groups.

Under the plan, the industry would attempt to stabilize prices and supplies of dairy products by means of funds collected under a checkoff on milk producers.

Benson told a news conference late yesterday that the 18-member National Agricultural Advisory Commission opposes the plan. He said the commission believes it would cost the government money, discourage consumption of dairy products, make milk production quotas necessary and create ill will among dairy countries that would be denied U. S. markets.

Benson said his department would either make an adverse report on a bill embodying the plan or point out what he called its weaknesses.

Debt in Rural School Area Is City Man's Gripe

Thomas Worsley of 332 Boulevard, speaking as a private citizen, said today that he was critical of the fact that Kingston would take over large outstanding indebtedness if consolidation is approved.

He said the outstanding debt of the 25 outlying districts amounts to $2,337,000, whereas the city debt is only $665,000.

"Let them pay off their debt and we pay off ours," he said. He said he felt that Kingston's share of the total educational cost under consolidation—57 per cent—was exorbitant.

He asked what would happen if state aid be discontinued.

He also asked why the city had been paying for medical attention enjoyed by rural children—$7 each child per annum—and charged that the board of education had been "giving our money away."

Worsley told The Freeman he objected to increasing state control of education and said he didn't think the taxpayer got his money's worth.

"I think education should be left to the local governments," he said.

Indicted for Murder

ALBANY (AP) — An Albany County grand jury has indicted a 31-year-old man on a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of his estranged wife.

The indictment was returned yesterday against Harold Rohr, 31, of Colonie. Rohr was remanded to county jail, where he was held without bail.

Mrs. Patricia Sherman Rohr, 26, was stabbed to death in front of the Rohr home Feb. 22.

Major Who Flew Thief in Box to Take Punishment

SEOUL (AP) — The American Army major who flew a young Korean thief 25 miles nailed in a box has decided to accept punishment without trial. The most he can get is a rebuke and loss of a month's pay.

The Army gave Maj. Thomas James, 40, of Plymouth, Pa., the choice of accepting the token punishment or seeking an acquittal in a general court-martial. The 8th Army announced his choice today but a spokesman said it is not known what his punishment will be.

Army investigators said the boy, 14-year-old Kim Choon Il, was mistreated after being caught with stolen goods at the 8th Army aircraft maintenance center at Ascom City. He is now in an orphanage.

Capt. Marvin E. Kemp, 34, of Kilmichael, Miss., will be tried by a general court-martial on charges of striking and cutting the boy and confining him in a box. If convicted, he could be imprisoned five years, dismissed from the Army and deprived of all pay and allowances. A special court-martial will try M. Sgt. Robert E. Weidensaul, 32, of Pottstown, Pa., who is charged with nailing Kim in the box. He could get six months in jail, reduction to private and loss of two-thirds pay while imprisoned.

Liberty High Defeats Warwick 65 to 56 for Class B Title

DUSO Champions Extend Streak To 22 Straight

By TONY CORAPI
Freeman Sports Staff

Warwick High's gallant cagers and their avid fans got a taste of Liberty's winning formula last night as the Redskins annexed the Class B Sectionals championship with a 65 to 56 conquest in jam-packed Middletown High gymnasium.

Coach Bob Van Slyke's charges made their 22nd straight victory a memorable one for a partisan Warwick crowd which took up most of the gym's 800 seating space before 6 o'clock and left more than 1,000 fans, most of them from Liberty, locked out.

Poor Judgment
It was a sad state of affairs for Liberty fans who had been following the team all year and then were denied the privilege of watching them in the "big one." The fault for this lack of foresight can only be attributed to John Morrone, district basketball chairman, who could have had the contest moved to Newburgh where at least 1,700 fans could have been accommodated comfortably.

But nevertheless, Liberty went home with the "marbles" in displaying one of its best team efforts of a perfect season. In fact, victory can be summed up in just two words—"team work." The Redskins used every trick they had during its three years as a working unit. They passed the ball waiting for clear shots even when behind. The Wildcats took the lead 23-22 for the only time at 2:03 of the second period, but relinquished it for good in the third stanza.

Lead at Half
They walked off the floor for the half time intermission trailing 29 to 26, but they were not panic-stricken when they resumed action in the third heat.

Ed Winchester and Don Bainbridge increased the Warwick spread to 32 to 26, but that was as far as they could go.

A twisting layup by Jack Thompson, a three-point play by Kevin Moloney and a dunk by Josh Gerow gave the Redskins a 35 to 34 lead at 4:10. After that it was all Liberty. Midway in the next stanza, the Wildcats got close, 51-50, but rapid-fire baskets by Moloney, Thompson and the brilliant John Lawrence made it 57-50.

Winchester Fouls Out
At this point, 3:15 whatever hopes Warwick had of springing an upset went down the drain with the loss of Winchester on fouls.

Up to then, the Wildcats all-around athlete headed for Annapolis, did a terrific job of keeping his team in the game and probably caused Lawrence more anguish than at any time during the season.

Lane Sharp
He was busy all night, like the Redskins' Tom Lane. The latter played his best game of the season and Moloney the stringbean center, came through in fine fashion.

Gerow and Lawrence, the scoring mainstays, were steady. Some of Lawrence's driving, twisting and impossible conversions silenced the packed house at times. He lived up to the advance notice given Warwick and then some. But the little bundle of dynamite isn't a one-man wrecking crew. He'll hurt you almost at anytime, but it was the teamwork that turned the trick.

Lawrence was the game's top scorer with 22 points. Gerow had 21 and Winchester 20.

Balotin and Backs Triumph In YMCA Basketball Playoffs

Balotin R/X and Backs scored victories last night in the YMCA playoffs. The Drug Squad clipped Promise Land 79 to 55 and Backs downed Caruso's 76 to 64.

Paced by Brown's 37 points, Balotin led all the way after a close first period. They held a 33 to 24 halftime lead and increased its margin steadily as the game progressed. Fiore and Ferraro with 18 and 16 points respectively led the losers.

The Backs came up with big second and fourth periods to offset a fine scoring performance by Phil DeCicco. He caged 23 points. The Backs bounced in front at the intermission, 39 to 28 after trailing 15-14 at the period.

The Insurance squad closed the gap considerably after three periods, 55 to 51, but faltered in the final eight minutes. Orr and Van Wagenen led the winning attack with 20 and 19 points.

Bowling, Favorite Sport, in Nation

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—To call baseball "America's national pastime" is no longer just a well-worn cliché. It is a myth. It just ain't so.

What, then, is the No. 1 sport in the United States? Well, that all depends. But one thing is sure, by the usual measuring sticks. It's not baseball.

Figures, which admittedly are dull unless wrapped in a bathing suit, show that basketball draws the most spectators. But the most amusement dollars go into horse racing. And, as for participant sports, Americans go for bowling, fishing and hunting.

Baseball Trails
Baseball trails in most comparisons. But even these figures, like those in a chemist's dress, can be deceptive.

According to a survey for the Converse Basketball Book basketball attendance for 1956-57 was 142,848,698. That's millions. No other sport begins to touch this figure, but no other sport offers as many games.

By comparison, horse racing, both the flats and trotters, drew 53,820,958. The track people openly advertise racing as "the No. 1 spectator sport in America."

Good Arguments

They have good arguments when stacking their figures beside those of comparable sports attractions—baseball and football. Professional baseball in 1957 drew 20,000,000 less than the horse tracks. The major leagues attracted 17,015,819 and the minors 15,496,684 for a total of 32,512,503.

Big-time football lagged farther behind. College football, 121 institutions and 580 games, brought in 13,931,295 and pros attracted 2,836,318 for an aggregate 16,767,613.

Most other sports aren't worth talking about, from a crowd standpoint. Pro wrestling drew 4,000,000, yachting 3,000,000, boxing 1,532,000, the National Hockey League 2,201,000 and tennis 915,000.

Bowling Tops

But many Americans would prefer to play rather than watch, and their favorite game is bowling. There are 20,000,000 bowlers knocking down pins on more than 5,000 alleys — round figures for round bowling balls.

Fishing has 18,853,809 enthusiasts, surveys show, and last year 11,784,000 hunters spent a billion dollars and travelled six billion miles in quest of game.

Golf officially counts only 3,800,000 players—men and women who play as much as five times a year—and tennis contends it has two million more, making 5,800,000.

So what is America's No. 1 sport? Who knows?

Hint Sale of Royals To Rochester Man

ROCHESTER (AP)—Sale of the pro basketball Royals and their return to Rochester from Cincinnati is predicted in today's editions of the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle.

The newspaper says Norman Shapiro, local concession operator, has nearly completed purchase of the team from brothers Les and Jack Harrison for a price in excess of $200,000.

The Royals, eliminated from the NBA playoffs last Sunday, were moved to Cincinnati only last season.

Xavier Upsets Bradley, Dayton Scores in NIT

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—For a guy who has been hanged in effigy twice, Jim McCafferty of Xavier is a mighty healthy-looking basketball coach.

He's happy too. And why not? His Musketeers from Cincinnati are the big surprises of the National Invitation Tournament. Last night, they upset Bradley's defending champions 72-62 and later were joined in the semi-finals by top-seeded Dayton, which defeated Fordham 74-70.

Take on Bonnies

Xavier will meet St. Bonaventure in the first semi-final game Thursday night. Dayton then will tackle St. John's of New York for the right to compete in Saturday afternoon's final.

"I don't care if they keep hanging me in effigy," said McCafferty, a 6-8, 270 pound Oklahoman who came to Xavier from Loyola of New Orleans in May, 1957.

"They did it to me twice, once right in middle of town and again on the campus. I'll admit we didn't look good after we lost Corny Freeman (the team's star declared ineligible because of scholastic difficulties) and then we dropped games to Marshall and Ohio University, so they really gave me the business."

Got Revenge

But last night Xavier was out for revenge. They lost to Bradley by 35 points in last year's quarter-finals and, said McCafferty, "they weren't going to end our season two years in a row."

The Musketeers, who pulled the NIT's first upset by defeating Niagara last Saturday, turned on the steam early in the second half. They outscored the Braves 16-4 during one span after trailing by 27-26 at halftime. Last year Xavier blew a 21-point lead as Bradley rallied for a record 116 points.

Hank Stein, a flashy guard, led the Xavier scorers with 23 points. But Rich Piontek, a 6-7½ reserve, turned the tide. He came off the bench midway in the first half and did a fine job of rebounding, offsetting Bradley's early advantage under the boards.

Fordham led 26-23 at halftime and it took the sharpshooting of sophomore Frank Case and the Bockhorn brothers, Terry and Arlen, to pull Dayton through.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

SARASOTA, Fla. — (NEA) — In view of all the money so loosely tossed around by Tom Yawkey, it is astonishing that the only solid ballplayer in an otherwise leaky Red Sox infield didn't cost as much as a postage stamp.

Frank Malzone might be working as an electrician's helper and still be playing sandlot ball around New York if he hadn't walked into a Bronx sporting goods store when he was 18 to buy a pair of baseball shoes. The man who sold the youngster the shoes, you see, happened to be a Boston bird dog.

MALZONE, NOW 28, was the only American League infielder, other than Vic Wertz of the Indians, who last season batted in 100 runs or more. He was the All-Star third baseman, which must have come as a surprise to those who were around him in high school. "There was no baseball in my senior year at Samuel Gompers High in New York," recalls the well-constructed Italian.

"It's a technical school so when I got out I applied for a job as an electrician's helper. I had no idea of playing baseball for anything more than something to do on Sunday. I was so surprised at getting an offer that I couldn't wait to sign a D league contract. At a big $175 a month!"

Judging by what he saw in a quick look at Malzone, the bird dog who sold this kid the shoes should be elevated in an organization sadly in need of good scouting.

Malzone is an old-fashioned bowlegged third baseman who looks awkward but isn't.

"WHEN MALZONE IS on base, you always know where he is without looking," said Tony Cucinello, who coaches at third base for the White Sox. "He is an immensely strong kid who runs flat on his feet. Thump! Thump! The earth shakes."

For a boy who was All-Star in the Canadian-American League in his second season, 1949, and the American Association in '55, Malzone was rather slow in arriving as an established major leaguer. But he was retarded by two years of military service, a serious injury and a family tragedy.

The injury came in stealing second base for Scranton of the Eastern League against Wilkes-Barre in 1950. The ball thrown by the catcher hit Malzone's ankle as his spikes caught in the bag. The ball caromed out into right center field and the plucky Malzone took off for third base, fell flat on his face and crawled to the bag.

THE SCRANTON TRAINER, who was also the bus driver, put ice and tape on the ankle and told the youngster that it was just a little sprain. It turned out to be a fracture, and Malzone wore a cast from foot to hip until November.

In the spring of '56, the Malzones had just lost their first child under unusual circumstances. Frank was handicapped by tender Achilles tendons in both legs. The presence of young Don Buddin at shortstop put even more pressure on him.

But it finally was clear sailing for Frank Malzone last season, when he was second on the club only to the great Ted Williams in total bases.

Until then the Red Sox had money and Williams. Now they have money, Williams and Malzone.

Sugar Ray-Carmen Basilio In Final Workout Stages For Tuesday's Title Scrap

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight champion Carmen Basilio and challenger Sugar Ray Robinson, each confident he'll win Tuesday's title bout, take pre-fight physicals today before the Illinois Athletic Commission.

Robinson arrived in his "lucky town" yesterday lacking his usual swagger but not without his personal army which included:

His wife, three sparring partners, two trainers, two managers, a bodyguard, a lawyer, a publicist, his personal physician, a guy named Soldier Jones and, of course, his personal barber.

Entourage Arrives

Robinson entrenched himself and his crew at a downtown hotel and will begin final workouts tomorrow at Joe Louis Gym. The Sugar Man, who is three pounds over the limit at 163, will remain idle today which gives him a three-day rest.

The explanation for the extended layoff is that "Robinson is in good shape."

Bas Confident

Basilio, quartered in another Loop hotel, arrived in Chicago Monday and did some road work yesterday. The champion will finish his training at Coulon's Gym, where Robinson usually has trained in the past.

Robinson, who originally won the middleweight title in Chicago from Jake LaMotta in 1951 and regained it in Chicago Stadium from Bobo Olson and Gene Fullmer, figures he'd have beaten Basilio last fall had the fight been held in Chicago, which he calls his "lucky town."

Chicago Lucky

Basilio relieved Robinson of the crown in New York's Yankee Stadium last September in a blistering 15-round split decision.

"If that other fight had been here in Chicago, I would have won it," said Robinson. "One of the judges in New York even voted for me. They wouldn't have taken it away from me here, but they did in New York."

Beaten Thrice

While Chicago has been lucky for Robinson, it has been exactly the opposite for Basilio, who has lost three times without victory here and once dropped the welterweight title to Johnny Saxton.

Saxton won a 15-round decision from Basilio in March 1956 but the onetime farmer regained the title six months later when he kayoed Saxton in Syracuse.

Basilio's other Chicago losses were 10-round decision to Chuck Davey and Billy Graham in 1952. Carmen contends the only fight he lost in Chicago was to Graham and the other two were "stolen" from him.

Influx of Spring Hazards Upsets Baseball Training

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The hazards of spring baseball training were emphasized yesterday when Jack Harshman, lame back pitcher who was traded to Baltimore during the winter by the Chicago White Sox, was stung by a scorpion. This was one of a series of ailments reported from the cactus and grapefruit front. The poisonous insect, which apparently crawled into Harshman's uniform, stung the Oriole southpaw in the small of the back as he was dressing. Harshman, who said recently he would be able to pitch the entire season if his back didn't bother him any more than at present, was treated and then watched. Charlie Beamon and Skinny Brown shut out the San Francisco Giants 1-0 on eight hits.

Rhodes Examined

Examinations by a neurologist and head x-rays were ordered for Dusty Rhodes, Giants outfielder and 1954 World Series star, who has been complaining of severe headaches for two weeks.

Dick Drott, who won 15 games for the Chicago Cubs in 1957, was bumped at the plate by Gene Woodling of the Cleveland Indians and in falling sprained his ankle. Drott was carried out on a stretcher and will be sidelined from a week to 10 days.

On Sick List

Al Smith, Chicago White Sox outfielder who was obtained in a trade with the Indians, has been out 19 days with an inflamed tendon in his right leg. The Chicago doctor said yesterday Smith would be out at least 10 more days.

Clem Labine, Los Angeles relief hurler, was struck on the right ankle by Bob Cerv's line drive, and may be out a week or more. The Dodgers beat the Kansas City A's 5-4 in 10 innings.

The Dodgers got some good news from Vero Beach, Fla., where Duke Snider batted for the first time in spring training. Duke, who was operated on for removal of cartilage in his left knee after the 1957 season, grounded to second and displayed fair speed and no limp as he ran to first base. This was a game where the Dodgers "B" team defeated Spokane of the Coast League 3-2.

Tribe Wins

Cleveland defeated the Cubs 6-4 when Fred Hatfield drove in two runs in the fifth inning with a triple. The Indians "B" team also beat the Cubs "B" squad, 5-3.

Cards Cop

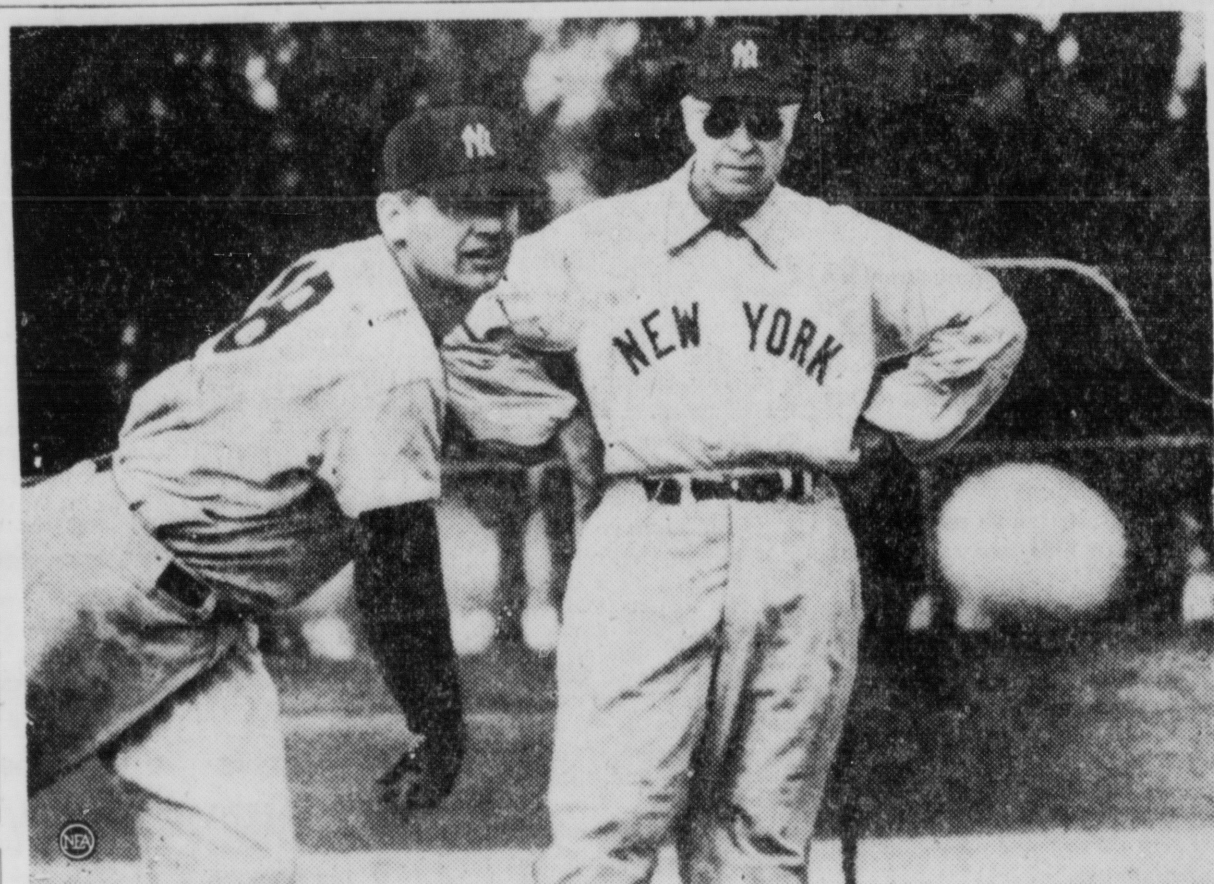

Cleveland defeated the Cubs 6-4. The St. Louis Cardinals got only four hits, but defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-2 in 10 innings at Sarasota, Fla.

Whitewash Hose

Two Washington pitchers, Ralph Lumenti and Camilo Pascual, scattered five Chicago White Sox hits and the Senators pounded out a 10-0 decision at Tampa, Fla.

Homers Decide

Four Philadelphia home runs gave the Phillies a 6-3 verdict over the Cincinnati Redlegs at Clearwater, Fla.

SHOW OFF—Don Larsen shows his best spring stuff to Yankee Coach Jim Turner. Larsen had a 10-4 record last year. Yanks look for more now that he's married.

Willie Vaughn, Beecham Square Off Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Willie Vaughn and Jimmy Beecham, who certainly need no introduction to each other, square off at Capitol Arena tonight for the Vaughn-Beecham championship.

The two middleweights probably would feel out of place trying to bash in anyone else's brains. Each already has fought twice this year, and each time against the other.

So far the count is even. Vaughn outpointed Beecham in 10 rounds on Feb. 4. Beecham reversed the decision one month later. The odds are even so slight that Willie will reverse it back again tonight.

The match was hurriedly arranged when postponement of the Eddie Machen-Zora Folley heavyweight bout left an opening in the Wednesday night televised fight series (ABC, 10 p. m.). Vaughn, 25-year-old Los Angeles boxer, ranks eighth among Ring Magazine's roster of middleweight contenders. He's had 59 fights since turning pro in 1951. His record is 35-18-5.

Beecham, 23, doesn't show among the top 10 in his division these days. He has a 22-6 record.

Kubek Stars

Shortstop Tony Kubek drove in three runs and scored three as the New York Yankees defeated the Detroit Tigers 7-3 at St. Petersburg, Fla., for their fifth straight victory.

HOSPITAL 'CHECKUP'—Temple's All-America Guy Rodgers displays back brace in Philadelphia hospital as fellow patient David Waxler, 9, "examines" Rodgers. Craft Laughs Off Yank 'Farm Club' Tag on Kaycees

By JACK HAND

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—All this talk about the Kansas City Athletics being a "farm club" of the New York Yankees doesn't bother Manager Harry Craft a bit. After all, Craft also is a product of the same Yankee organization.

"I don't resent it in the least when they talk about all the former Yankees we have," said Craft. "I don't care where they come from as long as they beat somebody."

"People forget we have made deals with Detroit, too, involving about 22 players. Yanks, Tigers or whatever you have, as long as they can do the job, we're glad to have them."

The A's latest roster shows 13 former Yankee farmhands and only five men from the club that moved from Philadelphia to Kansas City for the 1955 season.

Craft, a former Cincinnati outfielder, was a coach last season until he succeeded Lou Boudreau as manager Aug. 6. Although the A's finished seventh, 38½ games behind New York, they had a 23-27 record under Craft, who previously managed in the Yankee farm system.

Since the 1957 season, Kansas City has pulled a major deal with Detroit that sent six men, including infielder Billy Martin to the Tigers for pitchers Duke Maas and John Tsitouris, catcher Frank House and outfielder Bill Tuttle and Jim Small. Catcher Harry Chiti was drafted from the Yanks' Denver farm and Murry Dickson, 11-year-old pitcher, was signed as a free agent after his release by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Mike Baxes, an outstanding shortstop at Buffalo in the International League, is being converted into a second baseman. Baxes hit .303 at Buffalo and is reported to be the take-charge type to replace Martin.

The Baxes experiment is the key to the infield, which will have Vic Power (.259) at first, Joe DeMaestri (.245) at short and Hector Lopez (.294) at third. Billy Hunter (.191) will back up short and third and Milt Graf (.181) will play second if Baxes fails.

Tuttle, who hit only .251 at Detroit, strengthens the A's in defense, a 1957 weakness. Woody Held (.239 with 20 homers and 50 runs batted in) will be in center and probably Bob Cerv (.279) and Bob Martyn (.267) in left.

Hal Smith (.303) will do most of the catching although House (.259 at Detroit) will add a much needed left-handed hitter to the lineup.

The A's led the American League in home runs with 166 last season but they tied for last in team batting and trailed in runs, hits, runs batted in and complete games. They were shut out the most, 17, and lost the most one-run games, 29.

Pitching continues to be a problem with a mixture of young men who haven't quite arrived and old men who are over the hill. Craft counts on Maas (10-14 at Detroit), Ralph Terry (5-12) and Jack Urban (7-4) as the nucleus. Ned Garver (6-13) and Alex Kellner (6-5) will be spotted with extra rest as will Dickson (5-3 with St. Louis). Tom Gorman (5-9) will start and relieve while 39-year-old Virgil Trucks (9-7) and Wally Burnette (7-11) will handle the bullpen.

Celtics, Hawks Defend Crowns

By The Associated Press

The champion Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks open defense of their division titles in the National Basketball Assn. playoffs tonight.

The Celtics entertain the Philadelphia Warriors while the Hawks play host to the Detroit Pistons. Each series is the best-of-seven. Philadelphia last night eliminated the Syracuse Nats 101-88 before 4,119 at Syracuse. The Warriors, in taking the best-of-3 series, 2-1, scored their first victory over the Nats on the Syracuse court this year behind Paul Arizin's 25 points. Dolph Schayes flipped in 26 for the losers. Detroit had previously eliminated Cincinnati by taking two straight.

Plans Made for 31st

Annual Library Fair

WOODSTOCK — Several months must go by before the day dawns on Woodstock's 31st annual library fair, but already the various committees are busy planning and organizing the affair.

The date will be July 31, but April marks the beginning of the town's cooperation, for on April 5 the Collection Center opens.

The Collection Center will be open in the Library Fair Building from 2 to 5 p. m. on the first Saturday of every month beginning April 5. Beginning May 7, the center will be open every Wednesday, from 2 to 5 p. m. From July 21 to the day of the fair, the center will be open every day except Sunday, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 to 5 p. m. In addition, there will be an extra day in April, Saturday the 19, to take care of the items discarded in spring cleaning. All items are welcome, with the exception of large pieces of furniture which the center has no facilities for handling. Chairmen for the collection center are Mrs. Henry Marx and Mrs. Allen Albrecht.

Chairmen of the Library Fair are Mrs. Inger Walker and Mrs. Charles King. All who are interested in helping in any way are asked to drop a post card to Mrs. Charles King, Woodstock. There are some fifty committees handling everything from fruits and vegetables, to books, to children's makeups.

New Craft Classes

To Start at Guild

New craft classes by the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen are being offered.

Beginning Tuesday, Joan Pond will direct afternoon classes in jewelry making and enameling, with an evening class to be organized. Mrs. Pond's classes will be held at the Guild Shop.

Louise Brokenshaw will begin classes in ceramics at her studio in Shady starting Thursday, with tentative plans for classes Wednesday afternoons and Thursday evenings.

Esther Suiter has returned from abroad and will shortly announce the date of classes in weaving. Meanwhile, looms are being set up in the new quarters of the Guild.

Due to the customary closing of the Guild Shop for the month of April, prospective students are asked to call Mrs. Pond for registration or more details on any class.

Bishop to Visit

St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, will be honored by the presence of the Rt. Rev. Charles F. Boynton, STD, Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of New York Saturday, 4 p. m., to administer the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation to a group of adults and children.

The Rev. Herald C. Swezy, St. Gregory's vicar, extends an invitation to all Woodstockers to attend this service and greet Bishop Boynton.

Following the service, there will be an informal reception for the Bishop in the Guild Room, to which all attending are cordially invited.

Reformed Church

Dutch Reformed Church, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor—Services Sunday: 9:30 a. m., Sunday school; 11 a. m., worship service in cooperation with the other groups of the township to carry out the American Legion "Back-to-God" program; sermon, "Watching With Jesus." A nursery is provided for younger children. 7:15 p. m., Christian Endeavor Society. The monthly fellowship covered dish supper will be held on Thursday, March 27, 6:30 p. m.

Rotary Club

Judge William E. Conners of Hudson addressed the Rotary Club at Deane's Monday evening. He cited St. Patrick as not being an Irishman and not going by that name but arriving in Ireland to bring the message of a God who cares for a people torn by hate and conflict and filled with superstitious fears. This made them a happy people. He pointed out that there is so much of unhappiness in the world today, shown in the attempt of people in this country to overcome nervous tensions by the use of barbiturates and tranquilizers and in the crime and suicide wave of recent years. People need to put their faith in God and learn His ways and accept His will, because their own wisdom fails.

Metropolitan Reports Best Year in 1957

John E. Jordan, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's Kingston District, reports that the company's payments to policyholders and beneficiaries living in New York State last year amounted to $271,831,127.

In the last five years these payments have amounted to $1,136,425,562 in New York State.

"On the basis of Company-wide averages, the Metropolitan pays about twice as much to living policyholders as to beneficiaries of death claim payments," Mr. Jordan said.

The Metropolitan, which celebrates its 90th anniversary in 1958, had its best year in its history in 1957, Mr. Jordan added. The Company now has more than $79,859,000,000 of insurance in force, and last year paid to policyholders and beneficiaries in United States and Canada more than $1,513,000,000. About 41,000,000 persons, or about one in five of the total population of the two countries are now covered for some form of Metropolitan insurance.

GOP Favors Nuclear Center for Buffalo

ALBANY (AP)—Republican legislative leaders today moved to activate a nuclear research center for the University of Buffalo.

The rules committee introduced legislation that would allocate one million dollars for the project. The bill would authorize the State University trustees to contract with the school for the aid program.

Except for contractual terms, the bill specifies, the state would exercise no control over the university because of the aid. The school estimates the cost of the project at two million dollars.

SPEEDS MAIL MOVEMENT—Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk (right) and Kenneth Williams, superintendent of mails, demonstrate use of "local" and "out-of-town" mail boxes in front of uptown post office—a program inaugurated locally to speed the movement of mail. Patrons separate "local" and "out of town" mail which, Postmaster Newkirk said, eliminates time-consuming preliminary handling by postal workers "and goes direct to processing and dispatch." (Freeman photo)

Separate Boxes for Patrons Helps Cut Down Mail Sorting

A program to speed the movement of mail by having mail box patrons separate their "local" from "out-of-town" mail has been inaugurated locally. Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk announced today.

The new method is used successfully in a number of other post offices, he noted, "and has met with immediate and wholehearted cooperation of patrons, particularly those having large mailings."

Postmaster Newkirk said that mail separated by the new method eliminates time-consuming "preliminary" handling and goes directly to processing "and dispatch" when received at the post office.

"Out-of-town mail can then be worked immediately in the early hours of the evening to assure that it consistently connects with earlier trains and planes," the postmaster said.

Makes Suggestions

He said post office patrons can aid the local office "in this endeavor to speed their letter mail" by separating outgoing mail into Kingston and "out-of-town" and depositing it in the boxes provided. Dual boxes have been installed at the intersection of Wall and John Streets, Wall and North Front Streets and at the uptown post office, Newkirk said.

He also suggested that patrons use the following procedure "to aid this office and themselves":

1) Bundle and the "local" and "out-of-town" mail separately and face the mail in each bundle in the same direction, and

2) Attach a label to each bundle and tie securely both ways with twine.

Labels may be secured at the main postoffice, sub-stations, or a supply will be furnished by mail on request.

Results Are Negative In Pacific Contact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Navy pounced with destroyers and planes when it contacted an unidentified underwater object in maneuvers off the northern California coast. But search results "were negative."

The Western Sea Frontier yesterday announced that the contact had been made Friday.

The Navy said: "As a result of regularly scheduled fleet exercises, an unidentified underwater contact occasioned the deployment of additional aircraft and surface forces to investigate."

"The results of the investigation were negative."

The search was called off Monday night.

The Navy said one of its planes contacted the object 25 miles off Bodega Bay, some 50 miles north-west of San Francisco. The object refused to identify itself and other planes and Navy craft, including 11 destroyers from San Diego, rushed to the area.

Electronic Police Eliminates Vandalism

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—"Electronic policemen" have been credited with eliminating school vandalism here.

Police Chief Westervelt Demarest and board of education members announced yesterday that the use of sensitive microphones in closed schools has cut the cost of vandalism from $50,000 three years ago to nothing.

Demarest explained that the microphones are hidden in the shut-down schools, with authorities listening in at the other end. Since the system was installed last fall, "there haven't been any attempts to break into our schools," he said.

The school board installed the electronic system at a cost of $10,000 after vandals had destroyed several thousand dollars worth of musical instruments.

Under the system, the microphones pick up sounds from school buildings, and an alarm goes off at police headquarters if the noise level rises above normal.

Woman, 80, Found Dead in Home

The body of Mrs. Harriet Eckert, about 80, of 60 Prince Street, was found in the bedroom of her home this morning.

Coroner Francis J. McCardie said Mrs. Eckert died as a result of an apparent heart seizure. She had been under the care of her physician for some time, the coroner said.

Police were notified at 10 a. m. that an investigation was requested at the Prince Street address. Officers Harold DeGraff and Wilmont Hall were dispatched.

The officers reported that they had to enter the residence by forcing the latch on a window near the side porch and found Mrs. Eckert dead in bed.

Coroner McCardie was notified.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue.

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY — The Tweed Commission's court reform plan, watered down twice by the Legislature's Republican leaders, is still under heavy fire.

The plan has drawn so much opposition that veteran Capitol observers doubt it can win enough votes to pass at the 1958 legislative session.

Democrats Opposed

The Senate's GOP majority leader, Walter J. Mahoney, revealed yesterday that about two-thirds of the 37-man Republican bloc in the Senate had endorsed the second, revised version of the plan.

Mahoney said he thought the Senate might approve the plan but he would not make a flat prediction to that effect.

The reason is that he will need Democratic votes to put it through. Democrats were reported to be lining up against it.

It is understood Democratic party leaders in New York have been passing the word to vote "no." It is understood they fear losing control of court staff jobs — patronage — in the proposed consolidation of New York City's judicial structure.

For the same reason, the plan faces tough sledding in the Assembly, which rejected several different plans for court reorganization on the final day of the 1957 session.

May Delay Action

GOP legislative leaders, who had pledged action on court reform this year, were expected to put off a vote until the closing days of the session.

The best current information is that the session will adjourn in the middle of next week, although some prominent legislators still hope that the curtain could be dropped on Saturday, March 22.

Gov. Harriman and legislative leaders of both parties huddled in the executive chamber yesterday to discuss a long list of pending issues, including workmen's compensation rates and plans for setting up a crime commission.

No Agreements

An informed source said no agreements were reached.

Harriman has been seeking a three or five-man crime commission controlled by Democrats.

The GOP leaders yesterday came up with a plan for a four-member bi-partisan commission two from each party.

The new version of the court reform plan was introduced Monday night.

Unlike previous versions, it would retain the State Court of Claims in its present form. Like the first revised version, it also would retain the Surrogates Court in the New York City area and in the Upstate counties of Erie, Monroe, and Onondaga.

The original Tweed Commission plan proposed to merge these courts into other courts. The prospect drew powerful political opposition from both quarters.

The new version retains other main features of the Tweed plan — consolidation of New York City's many courts and a central administration plan for the entire state judicial system.

Two Suspended Utica Cops Are Back on Force

UTICA — Two of six policemen whose arrest records recently were revealed are back on duty here.

Public Safety Commissioner Boyd E. Golder said yesterday he had lifted the suspensions of Sgt. Bernard J. Gigliotti and Patrolman Thomas Porter.

The two were among six policemen suspended by Golder Feb. 27 after the Legislature's watchdog committee revealed the six had arrest records.

Gigliotti was fined $150 in 1923 after being convicted of running a brothel. Porter was arrested in 1934 on a rape charge but no indictment was returned.

Golder said the city's assistant corporation counsel, Michael De Santis, had advised him that no charges could legally be preferred against the two. Golder then ordered Gigliotti and Porter back to duty.

The commissioner said the cases of the other four suspended patrolmen still were under study.

Air Force Shoulders Sheboygan Blame

SHEBOYGAN FALLS, Wis. — The Air Force has shouldered the blame for 20 millimeter cannon projectiles that hammered into three homes and fell on village streets Monday night. There were no injuries.

After flying here for an inspection from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Brig. Gen. Don W. Saunders said in a statement last night:

"All the evidence so far indicates that the shells were fired by a B47 bomber out of Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio. Apparently for some unknown reason, some rounds left the guns after the plane flew in from the Lake Michigan firing range."</

Jakarta Reports Central Sumatra Is Under Control

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The Indonesian army claimed today that it has the situation "completely under control" in the Central Sumatra oil center of Pekanbaru and the North Sumatra Port of Medan.

Belying rebel claims, Associated Press correspondent Fred Waters reported from Pekanbaru that only an "occasional exchange of small arms fire" from across the river south of the city disturbed the quiet there.

Guerrilla Firing

"The firing, presumably by guerrilla units of the Indonesian rebel forces, is returned by Jakarta government troops," Waters said. He added that officials of the American Caltex Oil Co. arrived from Singapore today to discuss resumption of operations in the oil fields near Pekanbaru.

There were no new reports from the rebels who claimed last night to have recaptured Pekanbaru and reopened the fight for Medan after it changed hands twice.

Reports High Casualties

The Indonesian air force said it had inflicted many casualties on a rebel force retreating south from Medan. Both the army and air force said Medan now was quiet.

Sources in Jakarta said they heard reports of skirmishes about 40 miles from Medan, Sumatra's largest city of 300,000 persons. The rebels said the Achinese, renowned Moslem warriors claiming to have 150,000 fighting men in North Sumatra, had pushed south to the outskirts of Medan and clashed with Jakarta troops.

Medan Is Normal

Medan was captured by mutinous rebel units Sunday but Jakarta government paratroopers regained control Monday. An army spokesman said the chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution visited Medan yesterday and found conditions normal.

Pakanbaru and the 125-million-dollar U. S. oil installations in the area were captured last Wednesday by Jakarta forces. A rebel broadcast from Padang, on Sumatra's west coast, said rebel troops attacked Pekanbaru yesterday and Jakarta troops surrendered or fled.

The Jakarta army spokesman denied this. The revolutionary regime warned Monday that Americans in the Pekanbaru area should leave. There was no indication whether the estimated 600 Americans in the area had done so.

Weather Forecast Given to Monday

ALBANY (AP)—The extended forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Monday:

Eastern New York — Temperatures during the period Wednesday evening through Monday will continue to average near or just above normal with moderate daytime levels and above normal nighttime temperatures. No major change through the period except possibly turning slightly cooler over the weekend. A period of snow or rain is likely about Friday with the possibility that rainfall amounts at that time may amount to one-half to one inch in at least the southeastern counties. Conditions generally only fair for the flow of maple sap due to an overabundance of cloudiness most of the period.

Western New York—A dull, wet period is indicated with temperatures averaging near normal. Mostly cloudy, occasional periods of light wet snow or drizzle and not much temperature change Thursday through Friday. A general rain is likely during the weekend, followed by snow and a turn to colder. One-half inch or more melted precipitation is expected.

Temperature Normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from early morning lows in the middle and upper 20s to afternoon highs of 40 to 48.

Campy Sets Goal Of Moving West, Be Near Dodgers

GLENN COVE (AP)—Roy Campanella, still paralyzed from the waist down, hopes to go to California this year to be near his Los Angeles Dodgers, a friend said today.

Frank Slocum, a member of Commissioner Ford Frick's office, yesterday visited the veteran catcher, who suffered a broken neck in an automobile accident near his home Jan. 28.

Slocum said Campanella now is able to flex muscles in his arms and fingers and the doctors regard this as favorable.

The hospital said: "The paralysis has disappeared from the extreme upper areas, and that is a sign of hope."

Improvement in the paralysis stopped after the first two weeks and there was fear Campanella might never walk again. The latest hospital bulletin, however, reported that the catcher's sense of feeling had moved from his chest to his lower abdomen.

Alcum said Campanella is in good spirits and listens to radio reports of the spring exhibition games.

In Pitch for Votes

HST Blames Ike Rule for Farm, Business Slump

DENVER (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman blames the Eisenhower administration for farm difficulties and the business recession, and charges it has led the country "into a position of great international peril."

He made a flat bid for Democratic votes in a talk last night at the National Farmers Union convention.

Plead for Votes

"If you want to improve the welfare of the farmer; if you want to restore prosperity; if you want to strengthen our defenses; if you want to repair the injury that has been done to the international security of the country," he said, "there is one clear-cut thing you can do. You can vote for a Democratic Congress in 1958 and for a Democratic president in 1960."

Truman asserted that profits of food processors and distributors have increased sharply since President Eisenhower took office while farmers' income has declined by four billion dollars a year from levels achieved during his administration. He also said it is costing the taxpayers at least four billion dollars annually more to run the Department of Agriculture than when he was in office.

Tabs Benson 'Expensive'

Secretary of Agriculture Benson, Truman said, should be called "expensive Ezra," but he added that "if you could get rid of Benson, you probably wouldn't change a thing."

"This is a Republican program," he claimed, "and the program of the big business interests who control the Republican party."

"This Republican administration," he charged, "through blundering, mismanagement and refusal to face the facts, has led our country into a position of great international peril." He claimed the United States' allies "are slipping away from us, and bitter criticism is supplanting the spirit of unity that formerly held the free nations together in the face of common danger."

Russia's launching of the first earth satellite, Truman contended, "showed, more clearly than anything else, that our defense effort was not keeping first place in the world."

Says House May Cripple Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) predicted today the Senate will approve substantially all of President Eisenhower's foreign aid request, but said House money cuts may cripple the program.

See Billion Slash

Fulbright, a supporter of assistance abroad, spoke out in advance of public hearings by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on a bill to authorize the $3,942,000,000 program. A separate money bill will come later.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), who advocates sharp cuts, predicted a slash of nearly a billion dollars in the proposals before both houses complete action.

The bill on which the Senate committee starts work today is actually a $3,297,900,000 authorization bill, since $644,100,000 of the total program was authorized last year, including $25 million for the second year's operation of the economic development fund created in 1957.

Money Bill Later

Authorizations establish ceilings for the program. The actual money that can be spent is set in the appropriations bill that comes along later. The $3,942,000,000 figure making up the foreign aid program embraces money requests for new and previously voted authorizations.

Deposits fiscal year July 1	$50,316,040,786.76
Withdrawals fiscal year	$38,348,600,658.97

Full-Scale IGY Satellite Next Goal of Navy

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Vanguard baby satellite launched St. Patrick's Day may acquire a sister sphere three times as big next month.

Before that happens, and probably some time this month, another tubular Explorer satellite may sweep into an orbit.

About the time both new satellites are settled into the routine of circling the earth, the last remaining Russian moon, Sputnik II, may drop out of existence.

Navy Encouraged

This prospect opened today with the disclosure that the Navy was so encouraged with its brilliant launching Monday that it has decided to place a full scale IGY (International Geophysical Year) satellite in the nose of the next Vanguard rocket.

This was an abrupt change of plans. Only last Monday, two hours after the launching, Navy officials told a news conference that another midget satellite would be used for the next Vanguard try.

Rear Adm. Rawson Bennett, chief of naval research, told reporters at Dallas that the next Vanguard shot would come within the next few weeks.

20-Inch Sphere

The IGY full scale satellite is 20 inches in diameter, compared with 6.4 inches for Vanguard I, and weighs 21½ pounds against 3¼ pounds for the midget.

The next Army Explorer launching, which Army Secretary Brucker said would come within a week, will employ the same Jupiter-C type of four-stage rocket as was used in the Army's successful firing of Jan. 31.

What's in a name? Donald T. Risk is security analyst for a Milwaukee investment firm.

Paltz Student Is Cited by National Merit Grant Body

R. S. Tannenbaum

One senior at New Paltz Central High School has been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for his outstanding performance on a nationwide college aptitude test according to Principal Frederick C. Dippel.

The student honored is Robert S. Tannenbaum. He will be completing the requirements for high school graduation after three years and one summer. He plans to attend either Columbia University or Haverford College, where he will major in science.

State Runnerup
The New Paltz Central student was the New York State runnerup in the 1957-58 Merit Scholarship competition. He will be sent a letter of recommendation by National Merit Scholarship Corporation for use in applying to colleges. John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, believes that the 7,500 students who received the commendation rank in the top one or two per cent in ability in the senior classes of their respective states.

The annual National Merit Scholarship competition offers the largest system of privately financed scholarships in the United States. The Merit Scholarship Program is open to all high school seniors in the United States and its possessions.

Established in 1955

NMSC was established in 1955 through grants of $20.5 million from the Ford Foundation and Carnegie Corporation of New York. Over 80 business and industrial firms offer four-year college scholarships through its facilities.

Juniors at the New Paltz Central School may take the qualifying test for the National Merit Scholarship in April of this year. Applications are available from Alfred Johnstone, guidance director.
